syth and Hunter Available for Government.

MANY ADVANTAGES PROVIDED BY SITE

Owners of the Property Promise Co-operation and Actual Bid Will Be Made Before April 29.

The block bounded by Spring, Alabama, Forsyth and Hunter streets will be offered to the government for a site for Atlanta's new federal building, it was stated here Monday.

All owners of property in this area have promised their co-operation and the actual bid will be made to the government between now and April 29. While it is not thought probable that the entire block will be taken, the proposition will be offered so as to allow the government to take any part that it desires, it was explained.

The plot has a frontage of approximately 420 feet on Forsyth and Hunter streets, slightly less on Spring, and a little more on Alabama, due to the curve, giving a total area of 166,000 square feet. The size of the lot given in the advertisement for bids was 105,000 square feet, with a minimum frontage of 300 feet.

Many Advantages Offered.
It was pointed out that a more logical site could not be found anywhere in the city. The location has all possible advantages. Aside from being in the center of the business district, the terminal station can be easily reached by carriers by going under the Spring street viaduct, and if the new Union Station is constructed as proposed, the mail can be dispatched there just as easily, it was stated.

It is understood that the government is desirous of eliminating as far as possible the practice of taking the mail from the postoffice to the train by means of trucks which have to make a comparatively long trip through crowded traffic, and should the site in question be selected, this difficulty would be overcome.

Still another project which has been proposed, the construction of an Alabama street viaduct over the terminal yards, would be an additional argument for this site, it was pointed out, since this would fit in with the new viaduct system just opened to do even more to centralize the location.

Still another important consideration, it is said, is the proximity to the present post office, which is located just three blocks north and connected in a straight line by Fairlie street, which may be traversed without the trouble of running into traffic lights. Then, too, the question of parking the postoffice department trucks would be solved by having sufficient space to store them on the lower level.

Site Declared Desirable.
Summing up the situation it has been declared that considering the central location, the proximity to the present postoffice, the ease of access to the terminal and the proposed new Union depot and the possibility of further centralizing the location by the construction of the Alabama street viaduct, the government could not possibly find a more desirable site.

The movement to obtain a new federal building for Atlanta, which was started some years ago, culminated recently with the passage of a bill authorizing the expenditure of $2,100,000 for this purpose, $450,000 of which was made immediately available for purchase of a site and starting the construction.

The department advertised April 3 calling for bids on a desirable site, giving the approximate size and location desired. These are to be opened April 29, and government engineers having already inspected a number of sites, it is assumed that construction will start shortly thereafter.

IN FAVOR OF UNION

Churches.

The committee of the United Presbyterian church and the Presbyterian church in the United States expressed Monday in the joint report of the "Ad Interim Committee on Closer Relations with Other Presbyterian Bodies," of the two churches.

This report, which will be submitted to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, United States, at Montreat, N. C., May 16-23, states that 32 presbyteries in the Presbyterian church in the United States are favorable to a suggested basis of union between the two churches and eight are unfavorable, leaving 51 unreported, and that 29 presbyteries in the United Presbyterian church are favorable and eight unfavorable.

The committee of the Presbyterian church was originally appointed in 1923 and was dissolved shortly afterward by the appointment of a similar committee of the United Presbyterian church to work out closer relationships between the two churches.

"We deem it wise to leave it entirely to the judgment of the two assemblies whether to submit the basis of union to the presbyteries for consideration and adoption, or whether to cultivate further fraternal relations and hold it in abeyance for a year, thereby giving an abundance of time for consideration on the part of the two churches urging in the meantime earnest prayer for divine guidance in the final disposition of the matter," the report states.

It was stated that with possibly one exception the joint committee went on record as favoring union of the two churches.

The report was signed by the Rev. William Crowe, St. Louis, chairman of the joint committee of the two churches and the Rev. S. L. Morris, Atlanta, chairman of the committee of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

Other members of the committee include the Rev. C. H. Nabers, Pensacola, Fla.; Dr. R. J. McCain, Decatur, Ga.; the Rev. S. H. Chester, Montreat, N. C.; R. A. Dunn, Charlotte, N. C.; the Rev. R. D. Campbell, Asheville, N. C.; Mrs. W. C. Winsborough, St. Louis, and Mrs. W. E. Armstrong, Rogersville, Tenn.

PLANE IS FORCED DOWN INTO LAKE NEAR CHICAGO
Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—Captain Ben Eilken, noted aviator, and a number of other persons prominent in aviation circles, were aboard an amphibian plane, which was forced down in Lake Michigan off here late today.

The plane, which was buffeted about in the choppy waters for more than an hour, was finally towed ashore by coast guardmen and after some minor mechanical adjustments by the pilot, Rob Gaston, was flown to the municipal airport.

Besides Captain Eilken, the passengers were Stuart Auer, Milwaukee airplane manufacturer, and Mrs. Auer; Baron Omlie, Memphis, Tenn., aviation executive and Captain Roger Carpening, of Chicago.

The plane, owned by the Chicago Tribune, was en route to Chicago from Detroit, where Eilken and his party had attended an aviation show.

MITCHELL BRIDGE TO COST $206,700

Council Votes Unanimously to Award Reconstruction of Structure To McDougald Co.

On the heels of official opening Monday of the Pryor street viaduct, the second of the twin structures which bridge the railway chasm running through the heart of Atlanta, Mayor I. N. Ragdale and members of general council set in motion machinery designed to obtain an exhaustive and scientific traffic survey and immediate reconstruction of the Mitchell street viaduct, closed for more than a year to traffic "because of its unsafe and dangerous condition."

Simple ceremonies marked the opening of the second and last of the Pryor street and Central avenue structures, unveiling of a bronze tablet being the only observance.

The bronze tablet includes the following names: Mayor I. N. Ragdale, former Mayor Walter A. Sims, Claude E. Buchanan, W. Guy Dobbs, Charles L. Chosewood, Harry York, Wiley L. Moore, Dr. P. L. Moon and C. D. Knight, of the bridge committee of council; William A. Hansell, former chief of construction; Clarke Donaldson, the present chief of construction; C. E. Kaufman, engineer of bridges; S. E. Blanchard, J. Gilbert Norton and Dennis E. Barry, resident engineers; Frank H. Neely, chairman; Will L. Hancock, vice chairman, and Henderson Hallman, secretary of the Atlanta bond commission; A. D. Greenfield, Eugene R. Black, A. L. Brooke, Hal Davis, Norman C. Harper, J. Lawrence McCord and Nelson S. Spratt, of the bridge committee of the bond commission; Paul Etheridge, Walter C. Hendrix, Edwin F. Johnson, W. B. Stewart, P. S. Arrington, George M. Hope, Virlyn B. Moore and Charles G. Turner, of the Fulton county commission; J. B. Hill, president, and C. H. Johnson, secretary, of the N. C. & St. L. railway; Charles A. Wickersham, general manager, and S. R. Young, engineer for the Georgia railroad, and P. S. Arrington, president, and C. A. Smith, engineer for the Georgia Power Company.

Exhaustive Traffic Survey.
Monday night the mayor, members of the traffic committee of city council and traffic experts of Atlanta laid plans for a traffic survey which, it is expected, will give further relief to traffic congestion in Atlanta, eliminate the present traffic snarl, and the movement of vehicles in the congested areas.

This will be accomplished after the survey, which the city recently contracted to make, without cost, and which the company has agreed to push to a speedy conclusion, by appointment of a permanent traffic commission to give scientific study to the traffic situation after the survey.

Contract to McDougald.
At the council session Monday afternoon, members of council unanimously to award the contract for reconstruction of the Mitchell street viaduct to the McDougald Construction Company, builders of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts, at a contract figure of $206,700.

The Aldermanic board passed the measure with one dissenting vote, that of Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the 11th ward.

The noting for the paper in the Aldermanic board were Huet, Ashley, Cochran, Gann, Dobbs, Buchanan, Williamson, Milliken and Gilliam.

The Mitchell street viaduct paper will go to the mayor today for his action.

Alderman Murphy held that council should not award the contract without asking for new bids, but many other members of city council, including Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, chairman of the bridge committee; Alderman H. Turner Loefer, of the first; Alderman Robert E. Gann, of the sixth; Alderman Claude E. Buchanan, of the eighth; Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth, and Councilmen Tom Morris, John A. White, Harry York, W. Garland Cooper and James T. Osburn, contended that the city has not the money with which to construct the bridge at this time and declared that the proposal of the McDougald company to accept a deferred payment would relieve property owners in the vicinity of further losses which already have amounted to thousands of dollars by being denied free access to their holdings. They also held that the closed bridge adjacent to the Terminal station is a bad advertisement for Atlanta.

Seeks Financing Plan.
Council voted to ask the Georgia legislature to amend the city charter to make $100,000 an expendable balance in the repair fund for maintenance of streets paved under the bond plan available for the project.

Fulton county also was asked for a $100,000 contribution.

Plans for the traffic survey was unaltered Monday night by W. Graham Cole, traffic expert of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, at a dinner given to his honor by the mayor, as predicted on the desire of the company to increase the average.

FLORIDIANS ANGRY

Witnesses Tell of Wanton Disregard for Safety of Citizens During Chase of Smuggler.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., April 15.—(AP)—The coast guard's investigation into the firing of a fusillade of shots on Miami river early Sunday came to a dramatic adjournment late today when Commander R. L. Jack notified Boatswain's Mate James R. Ingraham that his status in the case had become that of a defendant.

Ingraham had not completed testifying that he was in command of a picket boat on the river and had ordered his lookout to fire a shot across the bow of a run runner which failed to halt after challenge. Commander Jack told Ingraham, "You now are a defendant," and gave the boatswain's mate privilege of choosing counsel for the hearing which will be conducted tomorrow morning.

Shots fired on the river during the incident struck buildings ashore in the heart of the city, pierced the cabin of a houseboat and narrowly missed a woman. The firing drew strong protest from city officials, who claimed lives of Miamians had been endangered by the shots.

Ingraham, testifying today as "an interested person," said he was in command of the Miami area picket boat, one of two picket boats operating at that time under Junior Lieutenant George M. Bernier. He had captured a liquor boat during the night, he said, and had been at Baker's haulover until he started to return to the city about 3:30 a. m., when he saw a boat approaching without lights.

Assumed Facts.
Assuming that the craft was a liquor vessel, Ingraham said he advanced to within 100 feet of it, hailed it and ordered it to stand by and submit to search. The boat without lights agreed to halt, he said, but did not do so.

The picket boat followed the dark craft and again ordered it to stand by. Ingraham said he got close enough to the boat the second time to see sacks which evidently contained liquor. He also surmised that the operators of the boat had no intention of stopping.

The pilot of the run boat started to advance his throttle, the boatswain's mate said, and then it was he saw a shot across the bow, which he said was fired from the bow of the machine gun bullets which spanned the river. The testimony went no further as to the alleged fusillade of machine gun bullets recited by other witnesses, as it was at this point that Commander Jack declared Ingraham was a defendant and must go on trial.

Bernier represent him.
Ingraham asked that Officer Bernier represent him but Bernier said he had had no sleep for three nights and asked for more time to prepare his case. Commander Jack then adjourned the hearing until tomorrow morning.

Saw Shot Like Fire.
George Boughman, a night watchman along the river front in Miami, testified today that he was pumping out a barge and he saw a shot that looked like a ball of fire, followed by tracer bullets. He saw a boat with two men in it, fleeing from what appeared to be a coast guard vessel.

John Carrier, manager of a funeral home in downtown Miami, identified a machine gun bullet as one that had landed in the wall of his home. Other witnesses told of seeing, from downtown buildings, tracer bullets flaming through the night.

Robert V. Latham, who lives in a houseboat on Miami river, told how he was awakened by gunfire at about 3:35 a. m. Sunday. He woke his wife and mother and commanded them to lie on the floor to escape bullets. One bullet penetrated the wall of the houseboat, struck a metal hinge on a suitcase, and ricocheted through the roof.

Testimony brought out that there was pistol firing as well as machine gun shots.

DALTON VISITED BY NEAR CYCLONE; HOUSES DAMAGED
Dalton, Ga., April 15.—(Special).—For the first time in its history, Dalton was visited by wind of cyclonic proportions. The twister dipped in just one place. Heavy roofing on the main building of the Smith Manufacturing Company, 40 by 100 feet, was lifted off and carried about 150 feet to an adjacent residence, crushing the roof and otherwise damaging the building. No one was injured. The wind was accompanied by one of the heaviest rainfalls ever witnessed here. The storm occurred about the noon hour and darkness requiring electric lights prevailed for about 30 minutes. The entire city was deluged and many stores and residences flooded. Property loss is about $5,000.

ANNEXATION PLAN BEATEN; DRIVERS' LICENSES FAVORED

Proposal to Take In County Area Loses by 18 to 14; Auto Paper Up to Mayor.

City council Monday afternoon declined to approve any annexation plan presented to them by the charter revision committee of city council, but did concur in a favorable recommendation on a measure providing that automobile drivers in Atlanta must stand examinations and obtain licenses to operate.

Annexation of the Peachtree territory, beginning at Palisades road and extending to Wesley avenue on the north, was defeated in a roll call vote, 18 to 14. This strip extends a few feet west of Woodward avenue on the west and is bounded by Piedmont road on the east. It includes land lots 101, 102, 103, 110, 111, 112 and 37, as well as portions of land lots 104, 50, 51 and 52, in the northern section of the county.

Proposal to annex all of land lot 57 and a portion of 38, 58 and 40 in the southern section of the county, which included the new southern plant of the Chevrolet Motor Company, was tabled, as was another measure designed to exclude all the property owned by the Atlantic Steel Company.

The paper forcing automobile operators to obtain licenses and stand examinations before being permitted to drive will be up to Mayor I. N. Ragdale today for approval and then will go to the Georgia legislature this summer for its sanction.

Among the provisions are that permits will be issued for the nominal fee of 50 cents each after a driver passes the examination.

ZONING AUTHORITY SOUGHT BY COUNTY
Legislature Also Will Consider a Bill To Operate a County Fire Department.

Bills by which Fulton county will seek authority to zone the county as to residential, business, industrial and manufacturing districts similar to the plan now in effect in the city of Atlanta, and to operate a county fire department to give protection to residents of Fulton outside of the city limits, will be drawn by Charles B. Shelton, county attorney, for presentation to the 1929 legislature.

The county commission Monday afternoon requested Mr. Shelton to prepare the bills. The legislative acts to be sought by the county this summer, in addition to the zoning and fire protection bills, will be an act to give the county authority to create a sewerage or drainage district, an act creating a set of building regulations with a system of building permits for the county, and an act providing for property transfers to be submitted to the tax receiver before being eligible for record. Another legislative act desired by the commission is one to create a system of business licenses for the county.

R. G. Loe, consulting engineer, chairman of the Georgia chapter of the American Institute of Civil Engineers, and E. C. Wachendorf, chairman of the public works committee of the Georgia chapter of the American Institute of Architects, conferred with the commissioners Monday with regard to the legislative program.

The fire protection plan planned by the commission would give the county authority to build "houses and operate a fire department. The city fire protection has been withdrawn from the county under an order passed by the Atlanta board of firemasters.

Resisting attempts to manhandle the famous 23 words of the pledge written by him 37 years ago, and branded by millions of children, Mrs. Bellamy wanted to know how Mrs. Owen would react toward the proposed doctoring of her father's famous "creed of gold" sentence, even if designed to match up to the prohibition law.

"What," he added, "would old Dr. S. P. Smith say if somebody should add a Volstead verse to his complete hymn of 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' and have it sung in the schools?"

George Herman 'Babe' Ruth GETS LICENSE TO MARRY JEFFERSON GIRL Will Wed Georgia Woman

New York, April 15.—(AP)—George Herman (Babe) Ruth today obtained a license to marry Mrs. Claire Hodgson, 26, New York actress and a widow.

Clerk Michael J. Crize, who issued the license shortly before the bureau closed, asked Ruth when he would marry. The baseball star replied "some day this week." Then he added, "the season opens tomorrow."

Ruth said he was 35 years old and gave his address as the Hotel Almac, this city. Mrs. Hodgson said she was born in Jefferson, Ga., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Merritt.

Reports that Ruth was to marry today were circulated yesterday, but at Ebbetts field, where the Yankees were playing, Ruth denied them.

Varying interpretations were put on the Babe's somewhat enigmatic reply. Some thought perhaps the Babe would get married tomorrow by way of celebrating the opening of the season.

Others felt he would postpone the ceremony until after the excitement of inaugurating another baseball campaign had died down.

Mrs. Hodgson said she was 28, and that her first husband, Frank Hodgson, died in 1924. She has a daughter, Julia.

Ruth's first wife, Mrs. Helen Woodford Ruth, was burned to death in a fire at the home of Dr. Edward H. Kinder in Watertown, Mass., on January 11. Ruth has an adopted daughter, Dorothy.

Athens, Ga., April 15.—(AP)—The family of James M. Merritt, whose daughter, Mrs. Claire Hodgson, is to be married to "Babe" Ruth, left here many years ago, after moving to Athens from Jefferson. Mrs. Merritt was last known here to be living with her daughter in New York, according to old residents.

That the present list of opera companies one of the best-balanced bills ever offered southern opera-lovers is borne out by the sale of tickets to the individual operas, according to G. A. Baldini, manager of the Atlanta Music Festival Association. Mr. Baldini states that only a very slight difference is noted between the demand for the various performances which begin Monday.

The opening bill, which also is the season's novelty, constitutes an irresistible attraction, he says, which is drawing heavily, "La Rondine," which was the first of the Puccini operas to be produced in America, is an ideal opening night attraction, because of its gaiety and vivacity, and also because it gives Bori, Fleischer and Torkan, the principals, parts of unusual appeal.

"Faust" Holding Its Own.
But "Aida," possibly the greatest favorite in all opera in Atlanta, is holding its own nobly, records show, in spite of its seven previous performances. This season's season is because it furnishes Ponselle with her first appearance, and Ponselle has a tremendous following throughout the entire south. This reason also explains the heavy demand for "La Gioconda" on Thursday evening.

Metropolitan repertoire this season after a lapse of four years, owes its particular appeal because of the fact that it stars Bori and Torkan, and because it has been restaged this season in some of the most brilliant star casts ever designed by Joseph Urban.

"Faust" brings together a brilliant cast, and the only Atlanta appearance of Edward Johnson, the American tenor, together with Editha Flinsha and Lawrence Tibbett, accounts for the heavy sale for Friday evening, Saturday afternoon, the only matinee, is responsible for the landslide of orders for "Faust," and the closing performance, which always gathers a great throng from out of town, will have additional brilliance this year because of Bori's rendition of "La Traviata."

All operas will begin at 8 o'clock in the evening and hostesses who plan before-opera entertainments are asked to note the hour, that their parties will not be late for the performances. The Saturday matinee will open at 2 o'clock.

The ticket sale continues all week at the box office in the Cable Piano Company between the hours of 9 and 5 o'clock daily.

ON CITY HALL SITE

Offer of Peacock Interests To Pay $6,270,000 for 99-Year Lease Goes to Committee.

Proposal to lease the site of the present city hall, at Forsyth and Marietta streets, to J. P. and W. H. Peacock, of Cochran, for 99 years at a lease figure of $6,270,000 was referred Monday afternoon by action of city council to joint consideration of the finance and the special city hall committees of city council.

If the proposal is accepted, it is proposed to erect a modern 1,000-room hotel on the site, under terms of the contract as explained to members of the city hall committee Monday afternoon.

The measure was presented to city council by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, chairman of the city hall committee.

Two other bills were received by the committee—one from Jesse Draper, Atlanta real estate operator, aggregating $6,225,000 for the life of the 99-year lease and another from A. N. Canton for $5,225,000 for the same period.

In offering the measure for action of council, Mr. McCutcheon explained that about $90,000 must be raised at once in order to reimburse certain items in the new $1,000,000 city hall which is being constructed at Mitchell and Washington streets and another $150,000 must be obtained for equipment before the departments can be moved to the new building.

The Peacock bid provided that the payments of the lease should be on an annual basis as follows:

EARLY ACTION SEEN ON U. S. PRISON ROW

Washington, April 15.—(By Staff Correspondent.)—With congress in session early action now is expected on the widespread criticism of the attorney-general's office and the department of justice over the recent spy system plan in the federal prisons and the ousting of Warden John W. Snook from his post in the Atlanta pen as a result of his objections to the system.

It is expected that a resolution on the subject will be introduced within the next few days in the senate but just what senator will offer it is not known.

Senator Borah, who has announced that the department has discontinued the system following attacks made upon it from every section of the country, has stated that he would not offer the resolution but that if it was presented in the senate that he would have a great deal to say, especially on the spy system angle.

Senator Norris, progressive republican of Nebraska, who is chairman of the judiciary committee, also is planning to enter into a public discussion of the case. He, with Senators George and Harris, of Georgia, was among the leading critics of the department of justice for its actions when the controversy was at its height. In the house Congressman Bell, of Georgia, is expected to take the lead.

System Comes to End.

While Attorney-General Mitchell maintained a policy of silence, Senator William E. Borah, republican, of Idaho, today reiterated his statement that former Warden Snook has won a complete victory in his fight against the espionage system practiced by the department of justice during the past several years.

The department, Borah said, will be expected to let it be known in due time that the policy of planting federal undercover agents in federal institutions for spy work against wardens and inmates has been definitely abandoned, at least so far as the present administration is concerned. He does not expect to see a recurrence of the practice in a long time—not so long as President Hoover remains in the White House and Mr. Mitchell at the head of the department of justice.

Although the Idaho senator spoke with full conviction on the subject, he was to be excused for stating his authority. Whether this means that he has been given assurance of the abandonment of the policy by President Hoover or Attorney-General Mitchell could not be learned.

Mitchell Silent.

At the department of justice it was stated in behalf of Mr. Mitchell that he had no comment to make. Officials explained that the situation remains as reported by the attorney-general some days back. At that time announcement was made simply that the whole question of the department's espionage system had been under consideration and that for the moment no undercover operatives were engaged in penal spy work.

In the light of the attorney-general's attitude the Borah statement was taken to mean that a definite decision has been reached either by high administration officials or by Mitchell himself to do away with the practice which has caused the department to come under critical fire. Borah, it is pointed out, would not venture such an emphatic statement without first receiving proper assurance from unquestioned authority. The only apparent reason for the failure of the department head to acknowledge the decision concerns his desire not to openly antagonize Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general in charge of prisons, who was responsible for the ousting of Snook after he entered vigorous protests against the system.

She is known to have opposed efforts of Borah and others to have the undercover practice abolished and to have attorney-general to publicly announce now that her position had been overruled would be to precipitate a thing of a break in their relations.

Aged Carolinian Ready for First Taste of Opera

There is a little old lady in the Carolinas who, at rare occasions, dresses either in lavender and old lace or in a black velvet gown, with a cameo the size of a silver dollar at her throat.

She lives in a little house set back from the road and has a garden where lilacs and pansies bloom in April. She has been to grand opera—over the radio—but she has never yet heard or seen a member of the Metropolitan Opera staff.

This year she is coming to Atlanta for the entire week, accompanied by her 18-year-old granddaughter, and she is going to hear every opera that is to be sung and see the stage settings as if they were fairy dreams because age sometimes dims one's eyes as to details.

She is a gay grandmother. It all started when Janet, her granddaughter, read her from the newspapers the stories about the great cabaret scene in the second act of "La Rondine" and how all of the principals would be on the stage at one time. She immediately insisted upon packing up bag and baggage and moving right away to Atlanta.

Janet perhaps not averse herself to hearing grand opera in Atlanta this year, wrote a letter to H. M. Atkinson, president of the Music Festival Association of Atlanta, telling him that her grandmother had not been to Atlanta in many, many years and this year was coming to attend every single opera, and also asking him if he could not get her seats as close up as possible.

Miss Janet was in a letter from Miss Janet to Mr. Atkinson, who promptly went to the Music Festival Association headquarters and arranged for the best seats available, and also personally telegraphed Miss Janet that Atlanta would be honored to have her and her grandmother among those at opera this year.

EMORY UNIVERSITY DEBATORS DEFEAT SEWANEES' TEAM

The Emory university debating team, composed of Glenn Rainey and Glenn Elliott, Monday defeated the University of the South team at Sewanee, Tenn., by a unanimous decision of the judges. The debate was the first one on a road trip that is to carry the team to Northwestern university, at Evanston, Ill. Centre college, of Danville, Ky., will be met tonight and Northwestern Thursday night.

The Emory team had the negative side of the proposition, "Resolved: That the jury system should be abolished," at the Monday night debate.

The debate scheduled to be held at Emory university tonight with the University of Alabama has been postponed until Monday, April 22, Dr. Nolan Goodyear has announced. The Alabama speakers were unable to fulfill the engagement and a later date was agreed upon.

Emory's representatives will be Hazlee Branch and Robert Elliott, who will uphold the negative of "Resolved: That trial by expert jurists should be substituted for the present system of trial by jury."

COUNCIL HOLDS UP ELECTRIC LIGHT TRUCK PURCHASE

Council Monday referred to the finance committee for consideration a proposal of the electric lights committee to city council to purchase and equip a truck for repair purposes in the department.

Alderman Robert E. Gann, chairman, declared that the proposed equipment would save thousands of dollars and contended that the money already was set up in the maintenance equipment.

Bungling Lawyers Should Bear Costs Judge Schley Says

In the first of a series of daily talks to be given during this week to students of the Lamar school of law at Emory university, Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley Monday morning stated his belief that bungling lawyers should pay the expenses of added court actions often made necessary by their errors.

Judge Sibley discussed the growing tendency among federal judges to disregard unimportant technicalities in an effort to mete out justice. He spoke briefly of the general scope of federal courts and compared the state and federal court systems.

The federal jurist will be heard each morning, up to and including Friday, at the school in a series of lectures on "The Peculiarities of Federal Procedure."

FREE VERSE EXPONENT ENTERTAINS AT EMORY

Carl Sandburg Reads Number of His Poems Before Audience.

Carl Sandburg, America's chief exponent of free verse, Monday night in the Emory university auditorium entertained one of the largest audiences to attend one of the Student Lecture Association series this year.

Possibly the most striking of the poems read was "Jazz Phantasies," the interest of which was heightened by the author's inimitable interpretation. "Cahoots" and several other poems "very strictly in American as distinguished from English language," were greeted by applause. The silent tribute to the author's poetic genius at the end of his little poem, "A Couple," was impressive.

Not the least delightful portion of the entertainment was Mr. Sandburg's singing of several of his songs collected in "The Great American Song Bag," with which he concluded the program of varied entertainment. He professed his songs with the remark that they were from one of his books which he knew was a great book. "I didn't write it," he compiled it.

PHILIP ALSTON MAKES ADDRESS TO WEST END CLUB

Philip H. Alston, Atlanta Chamber of Commerce president, Monday night addressed the April meeting of the West End Businessmen's Association, held at the West End Baptist church. In his talk Mr. Alston gave as Atlanta's best drainage cards its low tax rate and its natural advantages for industry.

The association adopted a resolution pledging its wholehearted support and co-ordinated effort to remove any and all obstacles that may be menacing completion of the Stone mountain Conference memorial at the earliest possible date. Hewitt Chambers, president of the association, presided.

TEA AND COFFEE PLEASE MILLIONS

Sugar Also Adds to Their Flavor

Millions of adults enjoy the flavor of coffee and tea as a beverage, and yet there are some who, because they do not add sugar, miss a great part of the delicate taste that coffee and tea should have.

Why do these people leave sugar out of their coffee or tea? Perhaps some do not know what they miss. Perhaps others feel that they should not enjoy any drink so much. There are people, for example, who persist in taking cold baths when a warm or tepid bath would be much more beneficial. Do they feel that they are benefiting themselves by the hardship of a cold bath? Do people who leave sugar out of their coffee or tea feel that they are benefiting themselves by missing part of the enjoyment?

Just try sugar in your coffee and tea if you haven't yet learned how much it improves it. Learn to use the amount that just suits your taste. Sugar is the perfect flavor developed by Nature. It makes nearly all foods and beverages more delightful to the taste.

Coffee and tea are America's popular beverages. Sugar enables every cup to promote happiness by affording individual flavor. The Sugar Institute. (adv.)

ALDERMEN HOLD UP PLAN TO EXCHANGE FIRE STATION SITE

Members of the aldermanic board Monday afternoon approved all papers sent to it by city council except a proposal to exchange fire station No. 8 at Spring street and Carnegie way for a site on the northeast corner of Cain street and Techwood drive and establishment of a traffic signal lamp at Forsyth and Alabama streets. The first paper was passed but held up on motion to reconsider by Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward.

The paper came to council when a recommendation of the Atlanta board of firemasters, and was an offer from the Massell Realty Company. In addition to giving the city a tract fronting 60 feet on Cain street and extending 148 feet on Techwood drive, the company agreed to construct free of any cost to the city a $40,000 fire station.

Sale price of headquarters company to the government for a postoffice site was placed at $125,000 and of No. 5 station at Trinity and Spring streets at $40,000 for the same purpose.

MURDERS IN ENGLAND SHOWING DECREASE

Statistics on Crime Conditions Given in Letter From S. C. Dobbs.

In a letter written from London, Eng., to The Constitution by S. C. Dobbs, Atlanta capitalist, who has been traveling abroad, interesting information is given relative to crime in the British Isles. Mr. Dobbs includes a clipping from The London Times, in which criminal records for the year 1927 are discussed editorially.

The paper comments with some little alarm on the fact that a recently issued book reveals that offenses against the person, including assault, malicious and felonious wounding, manslaughter and murder, increased from 5,147 in 1926 to 5,379 in 1927. Of these 232 were murders and manslaughter. Statistics from America show that this total of murders for all of England, viewed with alarm by a great paper, would be just about the total for one of our metropolitan centers.

Further along in the article, after deploring the increase in indictable crime as a whole, a more optimistic note is sounded in discussing murders only. The paper says "The number of murders committed annually in this country tends constantly to diminish in proportion to population; the number of unsolved murder mysteries tends to diminish almost to the vanishing point. Observers at home and abroad, whatever their views on capital punishment, agree that the strongest deterrent is the certainty of being found out and dealt with."

Mr. Dobbs observes in writing of this article "From it we at home may find a valuable lesson in law enforcement." Mr. Dobbs also mentions having been in Italy just before coming to England and gives his opinion that Mussolini, although ruling Italy with an iron hand, is doing a "good job." He expresses the hope that he would be able to return to Atlanta for opera week.

MACON HOSPITAL ALCOHOL MISUSE CHARGES PROBED

Macon, Ga., April 15.—(P)—A closed hearing on charges that a supply of tax-free alcohol at the Macon hospital was misused was started here today before R. E. Tuttle, of Savannah, federal prohibition administrator for Georgia and Florida. Several internes and other attaches at the hospital appeared during the morning to testify.

Accompanying Mr. Tuttle were A. G. Aderson, attorney for the prohibition district, and H. B. Deatley, legal adviser.

A warrant recently was issued for the arrest of Dr. Joe R. Clemmons, former head of the hospital, alleging several forms of misuse of the tax-free alcohol supply. Dr. Clemmons left the city and the warrant has not yet been served.

Insurance Company Sought Return of Money Paid on Fraudulent Drafts.

Washington, April 15.—(P)—The supreme court today refused to pass on the demand of the Insurance Company of North America for the return to it by the Fourth National Bank of Atlanta, Ga., of approximately $67,000 which the bank had paid out on drafts subsequently discovered by the insurance company to have been fraudulently issued by one of its employees in the southern department at Atlanta.

The insurance company contended that the drafts purporting to cover losses under policies it had issued were based on papers it alleged had been forged by A. H. Cain, superintendent of the loss department of its southern section. It asserted that Cain obtained the drafts and forged the name of the payee and that of W. J. Nelson, by which he was known at the Fourth National bank of Atlanta, where he deposited the drafts to his credit.

Arrangement with the insurance company all its loss drafts were paid by the Fourth National bank of Atlanta, and charged against the account of the insurance company. The lower federal courts held that as the insurance company had elected to enter suit against Cain in the state court it could not maintain the proceedings against the bank, and further that the rules of the Atlanta clearing house prevented recovery from the bank.

Drive Launched For Vaudeville Hospital Funds

How many Atlanta theatergoers haven't at some time had their lives made a little brighter and a little more pleasant through the efforts of some vaudeville act? And how many worthy causes of a charitable nature have been aided by these same vaudeville troupers who have extended their talents gratis that the coffers of some charitable organization might be better filled?

The answers are obvious, and this week Atlanta theatergoers are asked to return a little of this kindness and show their appreciation by co-operating with these actors in a drive to raise money for the relief and benefit funds of the National Vaudeville Artists' Association. The current week is devoted to the benefit of the National Vaudeville Artists' Association, and in vaudeville theaters throughout the country audiences are being asked to aid in the fund campaign.

For ill artists.

Officers for the actors' group and the Vaudeville Managers' Protective Association, which latter group is sponsoring the drive, are anxious that the public understand that these funds are used not for the benefit of those actors who now are entertaining you but for those who, through old age and illness, have been forced from the boards. The great majority of the money raised goes to the support and enlargement of a tuberculosis hospital now maintained by the actors' association at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale has issued a proclamation setting aside April 15-20 as National Vaudeville Artists' Week and has strongly urged that Atlantans render all possible aid to this campaign.

All theatrical groups are co-operating in this work and the general committee includes representatives of every major theatergoing group. The committee personnel is as follows: William Fox, Nicholas Schenck, Elmer Katz, Hiram S. Brown, Harry M. Warner, Harold B. Franklin, Edward A. Schiller, Milton Feld, L. E. Thompson, S. P. Skouras, Charles Levine, Charles Moskowitz, Joseph Plunkett and S. H. Fabian.

Mayor's Proclamation.

The proclamation issued by the mayor follows:

"Whereas, National Vaudeville Artists' Week will be observed throughout the United States, this year, during the week of April 15-20 inclusive; and this week will be dedicated to the men and women of the stage for what they have done and are doing in providing entertainment and pleasure for the millions of our people; and

"Whereas, in the midst of the celebrations and happiness of the masses, it is eminently proper to remember those of the acting profession who, because of the reverses of life, have been unable to carry on and must depend upon the good will of others; and

"Whereas, during the week of April 15-20, 1929, the 'National Vaudeville Artists' Association is making an appeal on behalf of its own unfortunate members who are in financial distress; and inasmuch as funds are urgently required for the completion of a large sanatorium at Saranac Lake in which to conduct relief work among the actors who have become ill and aged or who have met with misfortune;

"Now, therefore, I, the undersigned as mayor of the City of Atlanta, do hereby designate the period of April 15-20, inclusive, as 'National Vaudeville Artists' Week,' and I suggest that as many of our citizens as can attend the theaters this week and render assistance possible to make this occasion an unqualified success."

"I. N. RAGSDALE, Mayor."

The measure would authorize the secretary of war to make loans to farmers in storm stricken areas in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama, which suffered during recent floods.

HE COULDN'T EVEN WALK UP STAIRS, STATES GEORGIAN

Was Told That An Operation Was His Only Hope. Praises Sargon for Restoring His Health.

OSIE BRINSON.

"I suffered two years and tried dozens of different medicines and treatments. I was finally told there was nothing left for me but an operation. Then I started the Sargon treatment, and in a short time was as well and strong as I had been in years. That's what the Sargon treatment did for me, and I want all my friends, and every other person that suffers like I did to know what a wonderful medicine it is.

"Indigestion in its worst form, is about as near as I can tell the beginning of my troubles. Nothing I ate would digest, and after meals I had such nervous, dizzy spells and heart palpitation that I was just about past going. I tried fasting, but this did me no good, and finally I became so weak from lack of proper nourishment, and was so generally run down that I couldn't even walk up a short flight of stairs. I lost weight, strength and energy. At times I suffered with awful neuralgic headaches, and nothing I took gave me any permanent relief. I have actually taken calomel and other strong laxatives until I seemed like I would purge myself to death, and always, I was worse off than before I took them. Then, I tried treatment after treatment, with the same poor results I got from the medicines, and when just about hopeless, I started the Sargon treatment. Almost with the first few doses I commenced to eat again—just anything I wanted—and before I had finished the first bottle, every trace of indigestion had disappeared. Why I felt like a different man. My strength and energy returned, and where a short time ago I was almost too weak to get about, now I am ready for a hard day's work, every day in the week. I have gained five pounds, and I want to tell you the way Sargon built me up is nothing less than wonderful.

"When my liver became active, my neuralgic headaches left me, and my constipation ended, it was almost unbelievable, but true just the same, and I am giving Sargon Soft Mass Pills all the credit for it. This Sargon treatment is remarkable, and I only wish I could tell every sufferer what it has done for me."

The above remarkable statement was recently made by Osie Brinson, a highly respected resident of 413 E. Jones St., Savannah, and for years employed by the Gulf Refining Co., at their shipping point on Hutchinson Island.

Sargon, the revolutionary new formula, is literally taking the country by storm. It is restoring health to thousands of debilitated, half-sick, run-down men and women by scientific methods undreamed of a few short years ago, and it may well be considered the greatest health-giving remedy of the age.

The Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, is explaining the therapeutic action of this amazing new medicine to vast throngs daily. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

King Is Indicted For Murder of Wife By Strangulation

York, S. C., April 15.—(P)—Rafe King, indicted this morning on a charge of murdering his school teacher wife, was arraigned in York county superior court late this afternoon and committed to Chester county jail at the request of his own attorneys. He pleaded not guilty.

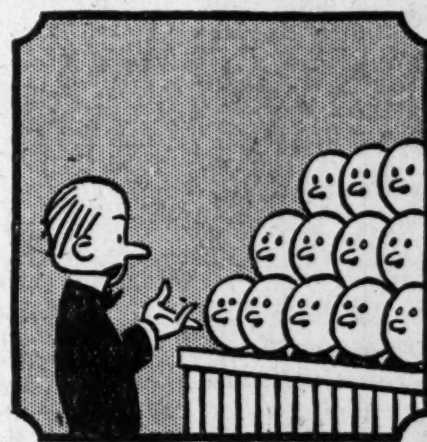

Defense counsel said the removal of the prisoner to the county was asked because they anticipated the appearance of York county officers as state witnesses.

The indictment this morning charged King with strangling his wife, Faye Wilson King, to death. The warrant upon which he was arrested charged murder by poisoning. Mrs. King's body was found in an outhouse in the rear of their home at Sharon, S. C., last January 25.

A hearing on a defense motion for change of venue was set for Wednesday morning.

ALLEGED "TRIANGLE" BLAMED IN SHOOTING

Frank Burnett, 25, in Critical Condition—C. H. Compton, 51, Held by Police.

The victim blaming a drunken brawl and his arrested alleged assailant claiming undue friendship with his wife, Frank Burnett, 25, was in the Grady hospital Monday night in a critical condition as the result of three gunshot wounds, and C. H. Compton, 51, was being held at police headquarters.

The shooting took place about 3:30 o'clock at Compton's home, 344 DeKalb avenue. Questioned by the police Compton said he had gone home from a near-by restaurant where he is employed and found Burnett with his wife, who is said to be about half Compton's age.

Burnett, who lives at 87 Druid circle, told authorities at the hospital that the shooting climaxed an all-night "party" in which both he and Compton became somewhat intoxicated. He denied being friendly with Compton's wife.

Detectives Taylor and Allee Monday night were continuing the police investigation.

MILTON DARGAN HOME IS DAMAGED BY BLAZE

Members of Family Forced To Flee Burning Residence. Damage Heavy.

Members of the family of Milton Dargan, Sr., prominent insurance man, at 3 o'clock Monday morning were forced to abandon their residence at 158 Ponce de Leon avenue to flames which threatened to entrap the sleeping occupants.

At the time the fire was discovered and members of the family given warning to escape the fire had gained such headway that lives of the occupants were endangered in the difficulties confronted in fleeing from the burning dwelling.

Mr. Dargan, who was in New York with Mrs. Dargan at the time of the incident, was notified of the fire Monday. No estimate of the damages caused by the flames could be obtained here, but it was understood that, in addition to destroying a large portion of the residence, the fire caused considerable loss in valuable old furniture that could not be replaced and golf trophies belonging to Mrs. Helen Dargan Lowndes, daughter of Mr. Dargan, and one of the foremost women golfers of this section.

Mrs. Lowndes, her daughter, Miss Helen Lowndes; Mr. Dargan's sister, Miss Jennie Dargan, and Mrs. William E. Arnaud were those occupying the residence, in addition to the servants, at the time of the fire.

The cause of the fire is not known. At the time it was discovered by Mrs. Arnaud, who was awakened from her sleep by the intense heat, the flames had filled the lower story and cut off egress by the front stairs. Mrs. Arnaud aroused the sleeping occupants and the terrified group escaped by the rear entrance, warning the servants as they left.

Everyone has the right to be proud of a clear skin

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin bespeaks rich, red blood. It is Nature's outward reflection of the condition within you.

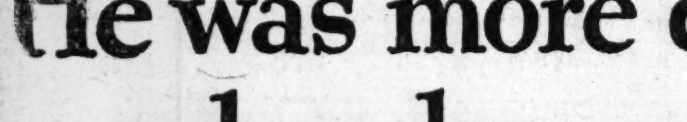

Men and women, both justly covet admiration. Everyone can expect such satisfaction to its fullest extent if they are the possessors of a clear, unblemished skin.

If you are unfortunate in having skin blemishes, pimples, boils, eczema—you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It gives to Nature what it needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

The sure way to reach this state is through the blood. When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite improves; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You sleep soundly. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. S.S.S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. Seek energy, vitality, and a clear skin, through the great blood tonic which is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

ACTRESS OBSERVES 75TH BIRTHDAY; 71 YEARS ON STAGE

New York, April 15.—(AP)—Katie Mayhew, who has the longest stage record of any actress still appearing before Broadway's footlights, today celebrated her 75th birthday. Friends provided a flower-decked birthday cake, covered with 76 candles.

—the extra one to symbolize the septuagenarian's optimism. Miss Mayhew made her debut at the age of four. She has appeared with most of the leading actors of the day, including Sothorn, James O'Neill (Eugene O'Neill's father), Barry Sullivan and John Drew. Later Miss Mayhew appeared in vaudeville and today she expressed a desire to make a "talkie."

"It would give me a real thrill," she said, "and I've had a lot of them in my life."

Each body named a committee to wait on the president and inform him that congress was in session and this joint committee, including the leaders of the two parties in each house, Senators Watson, of Indiana, and Robinson, of Arkansas, and Representatives Tilson, republican, Connecticut, and Garner, of Texas, late in the day called at the White House.

Farm Relief Bill Presented. The heavy republican majorities in each branch hardly were installed today before the administration machinery which has been grinding away for a month and put the new $200,000,000 farm relief measure before the house.

Before the end of the week both the senate and house expect to be at work on this controversial agricultural problem which balked solution in the Coolidge administration and still is loaded with trouble.

In another week the complex tariff bill which has been under the scrutiny of the house ways and means for many days will be brought forth. While the house is working over this, Senator Watson, of Indiana, the new republican leader, expects the senate to dispose of farm relief and the measure for reappointment of the house hanging over from last session.

There is a tentative plan in the minds of administration leaders for a month's recess after the house passes the tariff measure as the senate must wait for its finance committee to go over the measure.

Today was the first time the house elected last November had assembled and 402 of the 455 members were present. As in the senate, the democratic strength had shrunk considerably from last session with a corresponding increase in the republican lineup.

The senate previously had assembled and received its new members of the day after inauguration, but other new ones, Henry Allen, of Kansas, came forward today to take the seat vacated by his old political rival, Charles Curtis, the new vice president.

Mr. Curtis administered the oath to Mr. Allen and also to Bronson Cutting, republican, New Mexico, and Robert LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, who were elected again last November and who were unable to be present on March 5.

Negro Member Sworn In. The appearance of Oscar DePriest, a negro who was elected by Chicago republicans to fill the seat of the late Martin B. Madden, was the first time in 28 years a member of his race has been in the house. He took a seat near the rear of the chamber with the republicans and was sworn in along with four other members of the house who still face contests over their seats.

All but one of the eight women members of the new house were present today. Mrs. Langley, of Kentucky, a veteran of last session, was absent on account of illness.

Two daughters of two of the leading actors in the 1896 presidential campaign walked into the house on opposite sides of the chamber in the same parties of their fathers—Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, three times the democratic presidential nominee, and Ruth Hanna McCormick, daughter of Mark Hanna, chairman of the republican national committee in the days of the Bryan campaign.

The house had the only contest of the day, a perfunctory one over the speakership. Representative Longworth, of Ohio, defeated Representative Longworth, of Ohio, 250 to 239.

The senate had finished its day's work within 20 minutes, after Vice President Curtis rapped for order at noon and the Rev. Joseph R. James Shera Montgomery, offered prayer in that chamber after William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, had called the session to order and presided until the election of the speaker.

ent today and 143 democrats balloted for their new leader, and their candidate for speaker, Representative John N. Garner, of Texas.

The senate waited only long enough to hear Theodore R. Burton, of Ohio, deliver a warm tribute to America's late ambassador to France, Myron T. Herrick, who was buried today in Ohio, before it adjourned for the day.

The address of Senator Burton was the only one in the senate.

Senator Watson determined tonight at a conference with other leaders to ask for adjournment of the senate after the reading of President Hoover's message tomorrow until Thursday. It is the present plan to receive the agriculture committee's new farm bill on Thursday and to take an adjournment of the senate for Friday, when the agriculture measure will be taken up.

HOUSE STARTS WORK ON FARM AID BILL. Washington, April 15.—(AP)—The ills of the farmer about which three administrations have worried and talked, brought the new congress into special session today to deliberate over a remedy.

Meetings of the call of President Hoover for the specific purpose of carrying out his campaign pledge for relief of the farmer, the house started on these subjects.

While there appeared a possibility in the senate that no farm bill would reach the floor before next Monday, the house moved ahead swiftly. Barely had the echoes of the opening gavel of the speaker, Charles Curtis, rung in the chamber when the agriculture committee, dropped into the basket a bill drafted along lines of the republican platform and the rank of one of the nation's best known diplomats and yet they were simple, and unostentatious in keeping with the modesty and democratic manner of his life.

Attendance of representatives of President Hoover, the French government, Governor Myers Y. Cooper, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and other dignitaries gave the rites an official impressiveness. The cathedral was filled with many who knew the ambassador intimately and thousands more stood in silent tribute in the rain outside the church.

Draped With Flags. The casket was at the foot of the chancel, with the tri-color of France and the Stars and Stripes draped over it. At the head was placed the French Legion of Honor medal and at the foot a silver palm, another gift of the French government. Only three wreaths—sent by President Hoover, Governor Cooper and Secretary of State Stimson—were there.

In the mourners' pew were Parmely Herrick, son of the statesman; Mrs. Parmely Herrick, Parmely Herrick, Jr., Orin Herrick, brother of the ambassador; Colonel Lindbergh, who benefited by the diplomatic guidance of Mr. Herrick when he ended his trans-Atlantic flight at Paris.

Overcome By Grief. Parmely Herrick was visibly overcome with grief. His wife, who was at the ambassador's death-bed, was dressed in deep mourning. Colonel Lindbergh, his face reddened by Mexican suns and towering above those nearby, looked straight ahead through the service, his face showing traces of deep grief. He entered unobtrusively through a side door.

The simple rites of the Protestant Episcopal church were used. Three hymns—"Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me," and "Nearer My God to Thee" were sung. The services were in charge of the Rt. Rev. William A. Leonard, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio; Rt. Rev. Warren L. Rodgers, bishop coadjutor, and Very Rev. Francis S. White, dean of the cathedral.

Two-thirds of the operatives of the Buffalo mills at Union, S. C., were reported back at work today after a strike of several weeks in protest against an efficiency system.

Work was resumed after mill officials agreed to limit the number of weaving machines to be handled by each operative. Employees of the Monarch mill at Union are on strike against the same type of "efficiency system."

NEW ORLEANS, April 15.—(AP)—A new walkout with disorders and a call for troops marked the textile strike situation in North Carolina today, while in South Carolina a partial reconciliation of strikers was effected.

Part of the force of the Pinckney mill at Gastonia, N. C., struck today without having presented demands. A few hours later disorder among picketers was reported and Adjutant General Metts sent a company of Adjutant National guardsmen to the spot. Three troops of national guardsmen have been in Gastonia for the past two weeks on patrol duty at the Loxley mills, where a strike has been in progress.

Officials of the Pinckney mill reported that only about 20 employees, 10 per cent of its normal force, participated in the walkout and that the pickets were reinforced by strikers from the Loxley mill.

THE FEDERAL AID ROADS.

It is intimated strongly from the bureau of federal aid roads at Washington that under the regime of our new engineer president there is to come a new policy of granting federal road funds to the states.

The Constitution was advised of that probability and indicated it through its Washington special dispatches some weeks ago. Now we have some definite information to the same effect. The idea is to get back to the original purpose of the federal road aid act, which was to aid the states in building their portions of the through federal routes so as to connect all the states with the national system.

For instance, there is a federal road mapped from Chattanooga to Valdosta and thence to a Florida line connection. That route should have been fully completed long ago if the federal funds granted to Georgia had been applied to it. Instead the funds have been used to build short sections of roads in favored localities which have benefited only a few towns and stretches of farm lands.

There is federal route No. 80, planned from Savannah to Columbus, across the state. Only a few days ago a strong delegation from Dublin and Laurens county came to Atlanta to plead with the highway commission to pave so much of that route from Dublin eastward to Scott, in order to permit a large number of people to get into Dublin over the Oconee river bridge at that point.

Their mission emphasizes the pressing need of having the mapped out federal routes built with the federal money turned over to the highway commission of the state.
It is not at all to be thought that the federal aid act intended that the federal money should be frittered away ineffectively upon patches of roads flung about the state and looking upon the map like a lot of scattered fish worms.

Justice to the federal government as well as to the state at large demands that the benefits designed by the federal aid money shall not be lost to the people who have been constantly demanding the completion of through cross-state roads.
And if, to get those benefits, the federal aid must be applied by federal agencies, acting independently of the state commission, then that plan should be adopted by the federal bureau under congressional sanction. Better, however, for all concerned will it be for the federal bureau and the state commission to co-operate at once and effectively for the completion of the federal through routes.

ATLANTA GROWS ARTISTICALLY

Opening Monday night of an important addition to the High Museum of Art is an event of primary importance in the record of Atlanta's accomplishments.

Development of an appreciation for art, as well as the training necessary for the expression of artistic talent, is a process which, by its nature, is carried on quietly, without fanfare of publicity trumpets.
Artistic growth, however, is no less important because of its lack of the spectacular. An artist perfects his technique and then creates the thing of beauty which is within his heart and soul. He does not then cry his wares in the public ear, but rather waits for the beauty of his creation to speak through the beauty which lingers in the soul of the beholder.

That the High Museum of Art has performed and is continuing to perform a function of primary value to the future citizenry of Atlanta cannot be gainsaid. The work among school pupils and others of the younger people will bear fruit in years to come; fruit not only aesthetic, but fruit material and wealth enhancing. Things of beauty not only make the world a pleasanter place to live, but they bring a better price in the marketplace than things of uninspired ugliness.

It is of tremendous promise for the future, the fact that the work and achievements of the High Museum have made an addition necessary after the comparatively few years it has been in existence.

Atlantans owe it to their own knowledge of what their city is doing to visit the High Museum during the next ten days, while an important collection of old masters is on view.

OUR COMING NEWS-WRITERS.

The combination news and editorial section of The Constitution, compiled by the Atlanta Junior Press Association, issued with our regular edition of Monday, is an amazingly creditable piece of work.
The young men and women of the junior high schools showed an aptitude for newspaper writing that was highly excellent.

Quite a lot of those juniors demonstrated the ownership of "a nose for news." A number of their special articles would have gotten the O. K. of any city or managing editor. They showed search, identification of news value, and almost professional skill in making their stories hang together.

American journalism now is altogether a different art than it was 50 years ago. Then it was a plain profession of procuring the printable news, such as would not bring on a street fight or a libel suit, and publishing the stuff in the staid and sober fashion of the salon or the public meeting. Now the making of a newspaper is an acute psychological artistry, a sensing of the major sentiments and mental appetites of the people, and giving them the latest sensation with plenty of ginger and tobacco sauce.

These Atlanta juniors have carefully read their daily papers and caught on to the spirit of their coveted profession; but, as juniors, they have shown admirable restraint and put forth in The Constitution's special section proferts of their future expertness as news gatherers and caterers.

AN ALIBI THAT FAILS.

There are frequent emergencies in life when the most important thing to have is an alibi. The lawyers of Harry F. Sinclair, now due to go 90 days scrubbing and window-washing in a Washington jail, have come upon that need. They are seeking to explain why they told him that a multi-millionaire in this country is "a bigger man" than Old Man Seahate!

Sinclair paid them several reputed millions of dollars to tell him how to defeat the federal authority and to gaily tell the senate inquirers to "go chase themselves." They told him, and he did what they said, and the supreme court of the nation, from which there is no appeal except to the clemency of the president, has now told Sinclair that the advice was rotten and he must go to jail just like any common convicted misdoer.

The lawyers who have thus gotten Harry into a black hole now contend that what they told him was good law when they told it to him, but that the supreme court, by its decision "has made new law." Which is a pretty thin alibi in face of the fact that the supreme court, from its very foundation, has declared that it is no part of its duty to make law, but "to declare what the law is!" Those Sinclair lawyers must hunt another hole of escape.

But, even if the supreme court ruling is "new law" it is mighty good law and will certainly put a strong curb upon other Sinclairs who may assume that their money makes them immune to all laws!

Marion Talley is to quit grand opera and declares she will buy a farm and retire to the simple life.
We know of a number of farms that can be had for a song—like Marion sings.

The jury in the Texas Guinan case, wherein the queen of the night clubs was charged with operating a speakeasy, not only acquitted her but gave "the little lady a hand."

An airplane is unlike truth. When crushed to earth it doesn't rise again.

Atlanta is playing a great game of bridge and it looks as if the Mitchell street viaduct has to be rebuffed.

THE WORLD'S Your Broadway and Mine

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Army of Forty.

Andorra's army, consisting of 40 men, is being drilled an extra hour every day to prepare for the defence of their tiny republic against Spain.
Situating in the Pyrenees, the republic has maintained the independence granted it in 905 by Charlemagne for several centuries. The population is about 6,000 and the area 175 square miles. The trouble arose from the attempt made by Spain to conscript Andorrans into the Spanish army.

For many years past the Andorrans have also resented the attempt of General Primo de Rivera to force them to learn Spanish instead of their native Catalan language, and the Spanish separatists. The French president will soon receive the protest which is being framed in the Andorran house of parliament. The protest will include a complaint that a syndicate of financiers, said to have a million pounds capital, have planned to build the world's biggest casino in the republic. Rather than submit to service in the Spanish army and learn and speak Spanish the Andorrans are prepared to destroy the casino which was constructed recently, leading into Andorra. They are prepared to defend themselves and their country.

Scouted.

The theory that there was a Norse landing on the coast of North America several hundreds of years before the voyage of Columbus is somewhat discounted by a report prepared by Dr. William Storer, a geologist and historiologist of the recent MacMillan sub-arctic expedition organized by the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago. Dr. Storer, who was in charge of the expedition, does not deny in his report that there may be some truth in the legends that there were Norsemen in the region of the MacMillan coast, but he declares, however, that his investigation of Norse ruins on Sculpin Island, near Nain, on the Labrador coast, which he has recently cited as possible proof of an ancient Norse settlement in America, leads him to the conclusion that the ruins are merely the remains of an old Esquimaux whaling camp. "While I do not deny that the Norsemen may have landed in this region about 900
A. D., as the legends indicate," he reports added, "no tangible evidence to support this belief has ever been found so far. There have been no reliable reports of Norse ruins along other parts of the north eastern coast of this continent, but when investigated all of them to date have proved to be inconclusive or definitely wrong."

QUESTIONS

Q. What is the science of physics?

A. Generally it is held to treat of the constitution and properties of matter, mechanics, acoustics, heat, optics, electricity and magnetism. Sometimes the term is applied to a limited science, and embraces only the first four disciplines; more generally and loosely it includes all physical sciences.

Q. What is the recipe of cheese loaf?

A. Combine one cup boiled rice, one cup of mashed, boiled or chopped potatoes, one tablespoon of minced onion, one egg, one-half cup of milk, one-half cup of butter, one-half cup of grated cheese. Shape this mixture into a loaf and bake it in a greased bread pan about 30 minutes. Season with hyacinth radish sauce. To make the sauce, melt a tablespoon of butter, add a tablespoon of flour and stir until smooth.

A. They are from "Retribution" by

Q. Who was the Queen of Belgium born in 1859?

A. She was the Princess Elizabeth of Bavaria. She was the second daughter of Duke Charles Theodore of Bavaria, born at Posenhofen, Germany, July 25, 1859, and married at Munich, October 2, 1900.

Q. What is the difference between a partnership and a corporation?

A. A corporation is a body, created by law, composed of individuals uniting in a common purpose, the members of which succeed each other, so that the body continues always the same.
It is a legal entity, and the members are not personally liable for the debts of the corporation, which is considered a natural person. A partnership is an association founded on a contract between two or more persons to combine their money, effects, labor or skill, or any or all of them, in lawful commerce or business and share the profits and bear the loss in certain proportions.

President Coolidge Masons?

A. What is the best way to exterminate bedbugs from a house?

A. The most efficient remedy is to fumigate the house with hydrocyanic acid gas. This penetrates every crev-ice and has immediate effect. Use of this gas is, however, very dangerous and should be applied by a trained person. The fumes of sulphur are also very effective as a means of destroying the insects. Coolidge and Hoover are also of great value and oil of turpentine may be used.

MEXICAN BATTLE LINE SHIFTS TO WEST COAST

Federals Turn Attention to Pacific As Uprising
Dies in Interior.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, April 13.—(AP) Rebel and federal troops, deserting old battlefields, maneuvered again today in what apparently were efforts to decide the fate of the Mexican revolution.

Reports to Nogales, Ariz., told of the movement of 27 federal troops northward from Guadalajara, Jalisco, ostensibly en route up the west coast of Mexico to further bottle up the rebels in Sonora.

At Agua Prieta, 1,800 soldiers of the beaten Chihuahua army of General J. G. Escobar, rested some 20 miles and weary bodies after a long march over Pulpito Pass, the one rocky gateway through the Sierra Madre mountains from Chihuahua to Sonora.

The arrivals here joined the command of General Ramon Yucupicio, Yaqui Indian chieftain, left in full charge of the war situation in northeastern Sonora for the rebels since the departure last week of General Escobar and Fausto Topete for the west coast. Yucupicio's nearest encampment is the federal garrison at Naco, Sonora, 30 miles westward.

The federal army sweeping up from Guadalupe, reported 10,000 men strong with General Elias Plutarco Calle in command. A repair train crawled ahead of it to fix railway tracks which the rebels damaged in their retreat from the unsuccessful campaign against Mazatlan, Sinaloa.

The federal army, however, the progress and the steamship Montezuma at Guaymas preventing the landing of troops brought from the federal garrison at Mazatlan.

Mexico City, April 15.—(AP)—Federal airplanes forced down a rebel airplane manned by "two filibusterers," Tommy Carter and Arthur Smith, in an aerial battle south of Agua Prieta, Sonora, yesterday, the presidential palace announced this afternoon.

No information was given as to the fate of Carter and Smith, nor was their nationality stated.

SURVEY OF TRAFFIC TO START AT ONCE

age span of life and also on a desire to aid in the progress of business.

In explaining the purpose of the survey, the chairman of the survey committee, Mr. Cole, stated that the survey would be an engineering study of the traffic conditions in the city and would be a permanent body of information for the future.

Among those present at the dinner were Alderman C. E. Buchanan and J. C. Murphy; E. Stevens, president of the Atlanta Safety Council; Charles Harrison, representing the Retail Merchants' Association; J. Houston
Johnson, engineer of the Georgia public service commission; S. B.
Dodge, representing the Atlanta Automobile Association; C. A. Smith, representing the Georgia Power Company; J. P. McGraw, secretary of the Georgia Manufacturers' Association; George H. Brown, secretary of the Georgia chamber of the traffic committee of the safety council.

Scope of Survey.
The survey will cover the following:
1. Traffic Flow—(a) traffic count,
(b) time studies, (c) one-way streets,
(d) prohibited turns.
2. Commercial Vehicle Routes.
3. Common Carriers—(a) loading platforms, (b) bus stops, (c) taxicab stands and cruising areas.
4. Parking—(a) census, (b) regulation and observance, (c) off street space, (d) effect on business.

5. Physical Conditions—(a) street area, (b) pavement condition, (c) detour possibilities, (d) sidewalk obstruction, (e) street width, (f) off street parking, etc., (g) off street loading.

6. Pedestrian Study—(a) facility,
(b) regulation, (c) crossing, (d) accessibility, (e) study of (a) types, (b) location.

7. Traffic Regulation.
8. Enforcement—(a) police, (b) courts.

9. Signs, Signals, Etc.
10. Future Planning.

Brief addresses at the opening of the survey structure Monday were made by Mr. Dobbs, Councilman York, Dr. L. L. Moon, Councilman Mc-Cutcheon, Henderson Hallman, secretary of the bond commission; Alexander Macdonald, president of the Masonic Construction Company; and S. E. Blanchard, resident engineer of the Walter F. Schulz Company, consulting engineers on the project.

The complete viaduct system, which has just been completed, cost more than $2,000,000.

Reopening of street car lines following the opening of the viaduct improvement, thus relieving congestion on other cross streets.

The lines to be given new downtown routings are the Inman Park, Georgia Avenue, West Peachtree-Grant Park and Piedmont Avenue-Washington Street lines. Two of these lines will traverse the new viaduct street viaduct, thus shortening their schedules by several blocks, while the new routing on the third line will help relieve traffic congestion in the Peachtree street area.

Under the new routing, Inman Park Georgia Avenue cars, southbound, will run directly from Edgewood avenue to Peachtree street, instead of the old route of Edgewood avenue, Marietta road, to Peachtree street, to Peachtree avenue, to Broad, to Alabama and Peachtree.

The Piedmont Avenue-Washington street cars will be routed directly from Edgewood avenue across the new viaduct to Peachtree street, to Peachtree street, to Peachtree street, to Pine to Peachtree, to Ivy, to Edgewood avenue, to Marietta, to Broad, to Hunter, to Washington.

On the West Peachtree-Grant Park line, cars will be given a new routing over Peachtree to Broad to Hunter, instead of the previous course which traversed the busiest sections of Peachtree and Whitehall streets. This greatly tends to relieve the prevailing new routing, it is expected, will heavy traffic on Peachtree and Whitehall, from the Flatiron building to Hunter street.

Northbound cars on all three lines will reverse the new routes described.

The Jaybird Seems a Big Guy In a Company of Sparrows

By Robert Quillen

This is addressed to the introspective young person who covets success and yet hopes for little because he feels inferior to successful people.

You are licked before the fight begins because your imagination gives the other fellow qualities he doesn't possess.

You are timid and self-conscious because you see your own weaknesses and don't see the other fellow's.

The first thing you need is a comparison to reveal your relative worth.

There is no accepted standard of excellence, but you may list the qualities that to you seem most desirable and use them as measuring rods.

Rule a sheet of paper to form columns and at the top of these columns write the words Honesty, Industry, Good Manners, Common Sense, Fairness, Dependability, Morality and such others as may be necessary to express your ideal.

Now use 100 as the measure of perfection and grade yourself and the successful men with whom you have some acquaintance.

If you are an ordinary young person, you will be astonished to discover how few, if any, particulars in which these successful people are superior to you.

What, then, explains their success and your little hope of attaining it?

First, there is the matter of self-confidence.

Nature, perhaps, gave it to them; you have acquired the right to it now by demonstrating that you possess every other quality possessed by them.

Second in importance is the matter of ambition.

If you are one of a group of ten workers, it is a safe assumption that nine in the group have no interest except quitting time and pay day.

They do as little as they can; day-dream of their pleasures during working hours; think of their work only as a necessary evil; give no thought to the future beyond tonight's frolic.

You can climb above them easily—not because of your superior ability, but because they aren't trying to climb.

The man who advances as mediocre second-rate men who are given high place because there are no first-rate, faultless men.

Last, but equally important, is the matter of acquaintanceship.

To know a few successful men, and to let them discover you are much like themselves, as undoubtedly you are, is to step out on the highroad of success.

Climb in your friendships as you climb in your work; the things you admire are the things to cultivate, whether habits or books, manners or men.

Do these things and success will not come to you, but you will grow up to it.

Supreme Court Disposes Of 50 Cases in 30 Minutes; Few Cases Held for Hearing

International Shoe Company Ordered to Divest Self of $14,000,000 in Stock in Boston Co.

Washington, April 15.—(United News)—The supreme court disposed of 50 cases in a 30-minute session today. In most of them the court, after hearing the record, refused to review the decisions of lower courts, leaving those decisions in effect. A half-dozen important cases, including one involving the federal income tax commission to force three railroads to build a $10,000,000 union in Los Angeles, were admitted by the court for hearing later.

In an important business case from St. Louis, the court, by denying a review, upheld a federal trade commission decision to force the International Shoe Company to divest itself of the capital stock of the $14,000,000
McCluskey Company of Boston.

The commission held the merger violated
the Clayton anti-trust act.

The court by these rulings also decided two cases of importance to sportsmen. One was the case of Dundee, recently welterweight boxing champion, lost finally his suit to obtain a federal injunction to prevent the $100,000 prize fight in Milwaukee.

The other case was "Pinky" Mitchell in August, 1927. The suit was directed against the Milwaukee Lodge, which refused to pay him the prize offered after the state boxing authority stopped the fight in the sixth round because of the boxer's affectionate clutches and holding.

William Edelstein, London theatrical booker, agreed to furnish the prize money for actors, lost in his injunction suit seeking to have the Actor's Equity Association, the theatrical union, order the lodge to boycott him. Lower courts dismissed his suit on a jurisdictional point. The equity's rules forbid members to act in theatricals outside the union, which has no permit from the union.

New Prohibition.
A new wrinkle in New York probi-tion law was introduced in the case of William G. Marsh, of Fort Plain, N. Y. In the recent Gambling case, the supreme court held that state troopers could not stop automobiles without search warrants if they were to be prosecuted under federal laws. The Marsh case was sentenced to $500 fine and his car was confiscated after he was arrested by a state trooper, who stopped him because he allegedly was carrying through a red traffic light. Lower courts upheld the conviction, and the supreme court upheld them by refusing to review

LOCAL NAVAL RESERVE TO ASSEMBLE TONIGHT

A Cup for Outstanding Service Will Be Awarded Man in Each Division.

About 200 members of the Atlanta naval reserve battalion, with their families, will gather at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the armory, at Spring and Baker streets, for their annual "open house" meeting. The outstanding feature of the event will be the presentation of a cup for outstanding service to a man in each of the two divisions of the battalion.

These cups are the most highly prized awards given by the reserve here and the presentation this year is to be made by Captain William Anderson, of Charleston, S. C., assistant commandant of the sixth naval district. Other men who have been outstanding in their work during the year will be given letters of commendation.

Among the other features of the evening will be a boxing match between representatives of the two divisions.

DECATUR 5-CENT FARE IS UPHOLD BY COURT

Georgia Power Company Is Bound by 1908 Contract, Decision Says.

In a sweeping decision rendered in the Decatur "five-cent fare case," the supreme court Monday ruled that the Georgia Power Company is bound by contract to maintain service from Atlanta to Decatur at a fare to be no greater than five cents and that the company also is restrained from tearing up its tracks between Atlanta and Decatur. This marks the third time the case has been carried to the supreme court.

The decision in the case was written by Judge W. W. Stark, of Commerce, sitting in the case in place of one of the supreme court judges who was disqualified. The decision holds that a contract made by the power company with the city of Decatur in 1908 is valid and binding. Under the terms of this contract, the company agreed "never to charge a greater fare than five cents" and also agreed to "maintain tracks and service in a substantial and safe way" and the court held that this contract is binding on the company.

Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, recently granted an injunction restraining the company from tearing up its tracks and the supreme court upheld this injunction. The company proposed three years ago to surrender its franchise in Decatur and remove its tracks. The proposal started the litigation which was covered by the decision of the supreme court Monday.

At the time the contract was made, it was stated in the decision, the city of Decatur permitted the dismantling of a competitive line which is not now in existence. It was held that the permission to dismantle the competitive line was part of the consideration of the contract under which the company agreed to transport passengers for a fare not greater than five cents.

Because of the disqualification of several of the members of the supreme court through relationship to stockholders of the company several superior court judges were appointed by the governor to sit in the case. These judges were Judge W. W. Stark, of Commerce; Judge James Madison, of Macon; Judge W. E. H. Searcy, of Griffin; and Judge J. H. Sutton, of Clarksville. Judge Blanton, of Forsyth, was appointed but was unable to serve. Judge Marcus W. Beck was the only member of the supreme court who was not disqualified in the case.

122d Infantry To Parade Here Memorial Day

The part in the annual Memorial Day parade on April 26, which the 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, will play this year was outlined at length Monday night by Colonel Charles H. Cox, regimental commander, who also is grand marshal of the 1929 parade and celebration. For the first time since organization of the regiment five years ago, all companies will march in Atlanta. Only at annual camps heretofore has the regiment functioned as a unit, inasmuch as one battalion is out of this city.

At the officers' meeting Monday night, the regular drill period, Colonel Cox informed officers when and where the regiment would assemble and just the part "Atlanta's Own" is to play in this city's annual tribute to heroes of the Confederacy. Polishing up of equipment and close order drill followed the officers' meeting and there was a snap about the movements which indicated that the men were highly pleased for an opportunity to show "home folks" what the national guard on parade looks like.

The training program for the annual encampment this year in July also was discussed.

In the absence on Memorial Day of Colonel Cox, grand marshal of the parade, Lieutenant Colonel G. P. O'Keefe will be in command of the 122d infantry.

Final details for the parade will be taken up, Colonel Cox stated, at the weekly luncheon Wednesday of officers of the regiment, at the Ansley hotel.

LINDY, ANNE MAY WED IN U. S.; FAMILY PLANS VACATION

Mexico City, April 15.—(United News.)—Probability that the marriage of Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of Ambassador Dwight Morrow, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh would take place in the United States was strengthened tonight by the announcement that the ambassador's family would spend May and June in the states.

No definite plans have been made for their vacation other than the regular summer schedule, it was said authoritatively, and plans for the wedding still are indefinite.

Chances for a wedding in the United States, however, admittedly are increasing although it previously had been believed that a wedding here was under consideration.

It has been indicated that the couple would be married in June, which would fit in with the plans of the Morrow family. The ambassador will not accompany his family to the United States, it was announced.

ALL LEGAL POINTS FOR FULTON LOAN NOW AGREED UPON

All legal points involved in negotiations between Fulton county and New York money sources for a loan of $1,000,000 with which to operate the county until tax money comes in have been agreed upon, and the money should be available to the county's use within the next few days, it was said Monday by Charles B. Shelton, county attorney.

The county commissioners Monday were expecting word that the loan had been completed, but the only news received was that the legal points have been settled satisfactorily to both sides, it was said. As soon as the money is placed to the county's credit, overdue March salaries of county employees will be paid, it was said.

HAMILTON'S TRIAL ON GIRL'S CHARGE TO BEGIN TODAY

J. L. Hamilton will go on trial this morning before Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy in Fulton superior court on a charge of criminal assault on a young woman. Len B. Guilbeaux, counsel for Hamilton, announced Monday that his client would be ready for trial. The defense contends that the young woman was mistaken in identifying Hamilton as her assailant.

FRENCH ALLIANCE TO HOLD SERVICE FOR MARSHAL FOCH

Plans for patriotic manifestation, featured by a high requiem military mass at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the Sacred Heart church, in commemoration of the death of Marshal Foch, are being formulated by the French Alliance, local French society. Charles Lordin, president of the society, announced Monday that arrangements are being made to have all the patriotic organizations, civic clubs, chamber of commerce and allied consuls in Atlanta participate in the ceremonies.

The demonstration is expected to be one of the most elaborate ever to be held in Atlanta in honor of a foreign military officer.

A committee from the French Alliance, headed by Mrs. Joe A. Brown and Mrs. George McKee, are in charge of arrangements for the event.

JUDGES HUMPHRIES AND HUTCHESON EXCHANGE COURTS

Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, and Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, have exchanged for a few days. Judge Humphries is presiding at Decatur, while Judge Hutcheson is trying cases in the Fulton county courthouse.

Arrangements are in charge of Eugene Gumby and Miss Grace Green, who are being assisted by a number of the leading Scottish Rite Masons in the city. Ernest Beaudry and D. C. Black, prominent Atlanta motor car dealers, will provide the necessary transportation to and from the barbecue for all those attending.

No definite announcements have been made regarding the program for the occasion, but it is planned that by assembling former patients of the hospital who now are making their own way in the world, an idea of the wonderful work being done will be given to the public.

The hospital, which is located just off the East Lake road, is supported by the Scottish Rite Masons of Atlanta and is operated for crippled and diseased children exclusively. A number of prominent Atlanta doctors donate their services to the hospital and some marvelous cures have been effected in the case of seemingly hopeless cripples.

Shreveport Shooter Wins Feature as Dixie Handicap Opens CRACKERS KEYED FOR OPENING GAME

TAYLOR WINS FIRST EVENT OF BIG SHOOT

Dixie Handicap Here Delayed by Rain—Night Shoot Planned.

By Dick Hawkins.
Despite the machinations of a villainous weather man, W. F. Taylor, round shooter from Shreveport, cracked 192x200 in the class singles championship at the Dixie handicap shoot Monday at the Atlanta Gun Club to win the trophy in the highest division.
Taylor was closely trailed by Harold McKenzie, Peachtree Gun Club star, who broke 189.
Dr. Henry Napoleon Alford came very near to fame when he won class B with a score of 191, just one target behind the class A winner. Henry Napoleon faced the task of breaking a straight on the last trap to the Taylor and the task was too severe in the half light after the storm.
Third class hunters were evenly divided between Sam Donelson, Atlanta ace, and Frank Rodgers, of Griffin, each of whom cracked 173. This race was particularly interesting because of the fact that the two shooters were exactly tied for the last three traps.

REYNOLDS WINS.
Joe J. Reynolds, the big cotton and corn man from Waynesboro, Ga., stood alone at the top of class D with a score of 177. His nearest rival was Earl Clarke, of Birmingham, who broke an 81 in the morning and an 88 in the afternoon to total 169.

Just to find how the doubles were going, five squads tried 25 pairs of practice doubles after the singles competition was over and Arthur Cusack, Tampa professional, led the list with 44x50. J. P. Pullin, young Atlanta shooter, busted 43. Alford and Senborn followed closely with scores of 42 each.

If the weather had set out to ruin the first day of the Dixie handicap shoot it could have done little worse. When the first squad faced the posts in the morning, the rain had not yet arrived, but the wind was making the targets do things no respectable target should ever do. Coming from the east, the gale was blowing directly in the faces of the shooters and it resulted in snoring targets which could not be "ridden." Snapshooters who took their clays before the wind had time to get in its tricks did very well, but the slow timers were constantly riding birds to a fall.

Extreme variation was found from trap to trap. The first unit is slightly sheltered by the trees and the full sweep of the wind was not felt there. Number 2 stands on the crest of a hill and the targets too on all the characteristics of a balloon in ascension.

RAIN STARTS.
Just as the last two squads were finishing the first 100 in the class championships, the rain broke, and it was no shower. Nature decided to empty its bucket and did so without hesitation. For more than an hour the shooters were driven to the club house for shelter.

Persistence won in the end, however, and the last 100 targets were finished late in the afternoon. Trapshooters are accustomed to inaction on two squads decided to shoot off the "porch-climbers" championship during the rain. There is an auxiliary trap at the gun club which may be operated from the porch where the elements have no authority. Arthur Cusack, who suggested the "porch-climbers" title race, won the event and what went with it at the end of his event, but Joe Reynolds tied him in the last squad and the pot was split. It was something of a handicap race with the partly Arthur talking all his opponents out of a score after he took the lead.

LADIES' RACE.
Among the ladies at the shoot, Mrs. Frank Rodgers, of Griffin, and Miss Marion Hardy, of Memphis, staged the most exciting race. Both Class D shooters, they tied at the end of the first 100 and also ended the last string in a deadlock at 160. That is 80 per cent shooting, better than average under the existing conditions.

Mrs. H. N. Alford was high in that class with a total of 162. She broke but 75 in the first 100 but after the wind died down a bit she cracked 87 in the last 100. Mrs. W. H. Andrews, nationally known feminine expert, took fourth place in Class B with a score of 177.

The race between Alford and Taylor was the high light of the first day's shoot. The Louisiana finished his string first and shot the best score of the day to end up with a total of 192. He broke but 65 in the morning but dropped only one target in the afternoon. "Doc" smashed 95 in the first 100 but dropped four in the afternoon. He came to the last two

Rain Predicted For Nat's Opener

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—The weather man tonight offered Manager Walter Johnson and his Washington baseball club the prospect of a wet morning and the possibility of a clear afternoon for the opening of the American league season tomorrow against Philadelphia.
Rain in the morning followed by clearing and somewhat warmer weather in the afternoon was the forecast, but whether the sun would peek through by game time was uncertain.

According to custom, the Atlanta Crackers go to bat today against the Lookouts in Chattanooga in the opening game of the Southern league championship season. J. T.

Holloway, Associated Press staff photographer, and Jack Ryan, staff artist, collaborated on this picturization of the Crackers firing the first salvo in the enemy's camp. The batter is Max Rosenfeld. AWAY HE GOES. And in three other southern cities the first base hit of the campaign will go whistling away into the open spaces.

Play ball!!!
They're off!!!
Batt'ries fer 'day!!!
The crack of the bat against the horsehide.
Go no farther back than 27 years ago when John McGraw landed in New York wearing peg top trousers and a trim waisted double-breasted overcoat to take charge of the Giants.

That was when "23 Skidoo" was a wisecrack, back signs adorned the pillars beside the swinging doors, the papers were running editorials about automobile drivers who wrecked their cars while driving 20 miles an hour smoking a cigarette.
Old verbiage in baseball fades with the years. Now one hears more of favorites and the odds than the broad aspect of the game itself. Picking the winner is more to the point than cheering the winner—or even of razzing the loser.

THE RACES.
To give this salute to the new season a modern flavor one had best quote figures from gentlemen who express their opinions in hats.
In the National league the Cubs are 3 to 2, 1 to 2, out. The Giants and the Pirates are 2 to 1, even, out. The Cards are quoted at 3 to 1, even, 2 to 5. And so on.

In the American league the Yankees are prohibitive at 7 to 10, out, out. The Athletics are 2 to 1, 1 to 2, out. The others are liberally higher.
Now, do you understand that those figures mean exactly? Then you are no modern baseball fan. You are a throwback to days when folks were not so concerned with the investment angle of the game.

Those most interested in the financial phases of the games will keep coming to the ball park, win or lose. The old-fashioned folks who look on the baseball team as a civic asset or liability will jam the park opening day, but from then on the gate varies directly as the percentage of the team in the standings.

SOMEBODY CAN FIT JAME' FINCH AFTER ALL.
Jame' Finch, that chocolate mountaineer whose 650 pounds were wished on me by the Muse gang seems to have been taken care of by another Atlanta firm. M. S. Rice, the overall man, writes that Jame' is his biggest customer and that he has just built a suit of overalls for him that required 8 yards of denim. A picture of Jame' attired in his spring blues is convincing. He would be ready to work now, but for the fact that he is too big to bend down much.

TREAT 'EM ROUGH.
Spring football at Georgia Tech was no mild pastime. Two days after uniforms were packed away "George" Muse, the big guard, came to Coach W. A. Alexander.
"Please, sir, give me an order to have a pivot tooth put in," Muse said.

"When did you get it knocked out?" Coach Alex asked.
"First day of practice," as the answer. "I just let it go because I knew I'd get it knocked out right away anyhow."

REPAIRS TO STARS.
In case any of you wonder what Georgia Tech and other colleges do with all the money they make on football games, a glance at their expenses for physicians' and surgeons' repairs on their players would be enlightening.

Several thousands of dollars are paid out annually for treating battered players. The hospital bills cover not only football injuries but mishaps in all sports.
That tip is passed out free to insurance companies who might write a policy covering such risks.

RING TOURNNEY SET TONIGHT

O'Rourke's Single Defeats Cards, 10-9

St. Louis, April 15.—(AP)—O'Rourke's single after two bases on balls in the fifth inning gave the St. Louis Browns the second game of the city series, 10 to 9, here today. It also tied the series as the Cardinals won Saturday, 2 to 1.

Three homers, Blue and Kress getting two for the Browns in the first, and Frisch for the Cards in the fifth, were outstanding features, the Cards outlasting the Browns, 17 to 14. The Browns got to Bell for seven runs in the three innings he worked. Cardinals—400 610 310 000 00—9 17 2. Browns—403 001 010 000 01—10 14 1. Corbett Wins.
London, April 15.—(United News). Harry Corbett, featherweight champion of England, defeated Johnny Curley on points in 15 rounds at the Boston Baths tonight.

Crowds of 50,000 Expected To Pack Chicago and New York Parks Today.

By Alan J. Gould.
The dope sheets now can be wrapped and it will be just as well if Old Man Fan and his youthful companion wrap themselves, up comfortably, too.

The prospect is there will be many chills as there are thrills when the 16 major league baseball clubs swing into action today for the grand and gala opening of the 1929 pennant festivals.
If the weather does not deal too harshly with ceremonies, approximately 220,000 spectators probably will turn out, not only to see the flag raising, the parades and notables, but to determine for themselves how close the experts have come to the facts in picking the New York Yankees to win the American league race in a romp once more or the New York Giants and the Cubs to set the hottest race in the National league.

MAIN ATTRACTIONS.
The teams dodged a lot of bad weather by putting off the 1929 start a week, but not all of it. The prospect is for cool and probably rainy conditions along the entire eastern half of the big league battlefield today. With only slightly more favorable reports from the western trenches, it seems that six of the eight opening games are threatened by poor weather.

The biggest crowd of today—close to 50,000 each are expected to witness two of the outstanding openers—one in the east featuring Babe Ruth and the world's champion Yankees in conflict with the Boston Red Sox at the Yankee stadium, and the other in the west heralding the first appearance of Rogers Hornsby with the Chicago Cubs as they start the campaign against the Pittsburgh Pirates in Wrigley field, Chicago.

The nation's first fan, President Hoover, is expected to be among the 25,000 who will see the Washington Senators, managed for the first time by their old favorite, Walter Johnson, in the opening encounter with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. President Hoover will attend the game between the Giants and Phillies at Philadelphia.

TWO TOUGH OPENERS.
Pennants may be raised but they aren't won on opening days. Nevertheless starting performances will be closely watched in two major league games.

New York (N) 301 000 001—4 9 1. Army 000 000 001—1 5 6. Henry, Kelly and Cumming; Herndon, Evans, Cook and Caras, Hoy.

Million Dollar Exhibition Of Ivory Opens Today

Baseball is here and the fans can have a look at one of the game's biggest ivory importations. It is estimated that a million dollars' worth of ball players have been bought by the sixteen major league clubs in the last year.

Cleveland has two outfielders on display in Earl Averill, at $50,000, and Dick Porter at $40,000. Detroit has Heinie Schulte, Dale Alexander and John Prudhomme, all in the high price cast. The three cost something like $150,000.
The Yankees paid $135,000 for Larry and Reese and have only Larry now. The Cards took Charlie Gelfert from Rochester, no price mentioned. The Cubs have several new boys who cost a lot of money.
The Pirates spent a fortune bracing for this year's race. Every club has new men from $10,000 to $100,000. Some will be played regularly, some kept on the bench but a bigger number will go back Southern League Opens With Birmingham and Memphis Favored.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Final rehearsals were taken Monday by eight Southern Association ball clubs and today the battle for the 1929 pennant will get underway on four fronts.

Atlanta opens at Chattanooga, Birmingham at Nashville, Memphis at Little Rock and New Orleans at Mobile.
The scene changes Thursday, with Chattanooga moving to Atlanta and Nashville to Birmingham for opening games in those two cities, then Friday Little Rock goes to Memphis and Mobile to New Orleans to make the opening of the circuit in eight cities complete.

With spring training over, the same four clubs that have been fighting it out for the flag in seasons past seem assured of first division berths this year. They are New Orleans, Memphis, Birmingham and Atlanta.
Of these Birmingham and Memphis appear to have the edge as the teams face the barrier, although both New Orleans and Atlanta seem stronger than the rest of the field.

YOUNG CHICKS.
Memphis has a team of youngsters, with enough veterans on the roster to balance the colts and anything can happen there.

Johnny Dobbs at Birmingham was faced with the task of replacing all most his entire championship team of 1928, but the Barons have the best major league connections in the South, and all agree that Dobbs has done mightily well with his replacements.
The New Orleans Pelicans do not look as spryly as in past years, but nobody is infatuated with Larry Gilbert's team out. Like Memphis and Birmingham, the Pels have a habit of finishing well.

ATLANTA HELPED.
Thanks to some last minute aid from Brooklyn, the Atlanta team goes into the grind with much better prospects than they sported a week ago. Wilbur Good will rely on experienced performers who are likely to be at their best in July and August when the youngsters of some of the other teams may be showing signs of wilting under the strain.

Of the other four clubs, the Nashville Volunteers appear to have shown the most improvement and Manager Clarence Rowland thinks he has a chance to trim somebody out of a place in the first division.
Little Rock will pin its hopes on its pitching. Mobile is banking on players from the Boston Red Sox to get the Bears somewhere, while Chattanooga is infatuated with Larry Gilbert and the entire team seems to be an improvement over the 1928 entry.

Martin Announces Player Lists.

Memphis, Tenn., April 15.—(AP)—John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, mailed each clubowner tonight the list of players certified to him by the various clubs as eligible and the classification given the players by the respective clubs.
Should any club challenge the classification of any player, it will notify Mr. Martin and the club with whom the challenged player is connected will have three days to answer. Martin

NEW LINE-UP TO START IN CHATTANOOGA

Club Has Confidence in Kiefer—Arrive Late on Scene of Battle.

By Ralph M'Gill.
Chattanooga, Tenn., April 15.—(Special).—Only a few mild stares greeted the Crackers as they arrived here late tonight in charge of Wilbur Good and "Silver Bill" Stickeney. A washout on the line delayed the train.
The lid blows off Tuesday afternoon and the mild stares of Monday night will be replaced by nine or ten thousand hostile glances as the Chattanoogaans, who take their baseball seriously, greet the opening of the 1929 Southern association baseball season.

HOPE HIGH.
Hope runs high in the Tennessee city. The ashes are cold under the copper pots in the ravines of Sand and Signal mountains. The mayor has a half-holiday proclamation out. The schools and business houses are to close for half a day. They all seem to want to see what the Atlanta Crackers can do to their boys. If they should win the first game Tuesday, in their present state of nervous expectation, hysteria would be rampant in Chattanooga and visitors will be in danger of being nibbled on the arm by some excited fan. Chattanooga has been starved for many years and the thought of a bounteous baseball repast has them in a dangerous mood. There will be a great turnout for the game if the weather is good, as promised.

Wilbur Good, given to few words, would venture forth no great prediction. "It all depends on the young pitchers," he said. "They will have to carry the burden for a while. I am expecting a great deal of the three youngsters on the club."
MORE SPEED.
Good changed his line-up Monday as a last desperate measure calculated to bring more speed to the club. Frankie Zoeller's absence from the line-up, and the failure of Fred Brainerd to report in condition, caused him to place Maurice Archdeacon, once the fastest man in the game, in center field.

Good had two motives influencing his change. He wanted more speed on the attack and Max Rosenfeld was too good a hitter to leave out. Until Zoeller returns to the game, which will probably be a week or ten days from now, Archdeacon will be in center field. Dick Wade has been shifted to right field and Rosenfeld, who will bat third, will play in left. Brainerd is carried with a squad as a utility man. Frank Haley is listed as a first baseman along with Jim Poole, whose ankle, injured in an exhibition game, is not yet completely healed. Poole, however, is expected to start the game.

The remainder of the infield remains unchanged. Bill Martin is at third, Johnny Jones at short and Jack Sheehan at second.

KIEFER PITCHES.
Good will start Joe Kiefer, the Texas right-hander, in the first game. He would not definitely announce his catcher tonight. It is expected to be Lopez.

The Crackers, with Lopez behind the plate, will offer five men who hit better than 300 last season and who are expected to do better than those figures in this campaign.
Selection of Archdeacon added strength to the batting order. He is still fast enough to beat out bunts, hits well to any field in spite of being a left-handed hitter, and is eager to hustle for Wilbur Good.

"I will give them all I have," he said Monday evening. "I was criticized for not showing more dash in the early college games when I was not in condition. I don't know how long I will be here, but I will hustle as long as I am in the game."
The Crackers may not know until shortly before game time whether they are to face right or left-handed pitching. The Lookouts are carrying Art Decatur, a veteran right-hander, and Jim Mooney, a young southpaw, who has been pitching sensationally in the spring exhibition games.

GOOD RECORD.
Jimmy Johnston, back for his second trial as manager of the Lookouts, has got together a team which went

Women Golfers Qualify Today for First Match Play Tourney

East Lake Course Tournament Scene

First Match Starts at 8:30 O'Clock; Many Prizes Are Offered.

Women golfers will hold the first match play tournament of the year in the Atlanta Women's Golf Association this morning at 8:30 o'clock on the East Lake course with 18 holes of qualifying play. Officials have announced that play will be postponed until next Tuesday if it is raining at the starting time this morning.

As many flights of eight players as there are "qualifiers" will be selected from the qualifying scores and match play will continue through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with 18 holes of match play in each round.

Prizes will be furnished for the winner and runner-up in each flight. The entry fee will be $1 and any feminine golfer who does not belong to the association may join at the first fee this morning. Players need have no fear of not being able to qualify for lack of a partner. Officials will furnish companions for all qualifiers at the tee.

The members are asked not to bring outside caddies to the competition. It is pointed out that East Lake is well equipped with capable caddies and the importation of caddies is falling into disfavor all over the country.

Atlantans Beat Macon Golfers.

Ten golfers representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce invaded Macon Sunday and showed a like number of trap and bunker dodgers how golf is played in Atlanta.

Five two-man teams were put on the field by the Atlantans for the 36-hole match, which was scored by the Nassau system of scoring. The Macon golfers were not quite as good as the visiting men and the Atlantans made

Heeney Offered Schmeling Bout

New York, April 15.—(United News.)—Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight who was knocked out by Gene Tunney last July, has received an offer from a Berlin promoter to meet Max Schmeling, of Germany, at Berlin in June, according to Joe Jacobs, New York fight manager and handler of Schmeling.

A clean sweep of the matches, piling up a total of 18 points. The matches were played over the Macon municipal links.

Lee Fowler led the brigade over the beautiful course, turning in a 34, two under par, for nine holes of his match. He failed setting a new course record by three strokes.

Following is a list of the Atlantans making the trip. The names of their respective Macon opponents appear in parentheses:

Diegel Counted On To Help U. S. Keep Ryder Cup

LEO DIEGEL

Leo Diegel, Canadian and professional champion, is a Ryder cup veteran. He is expected to play close to the top when the matches are held in England April 26-27.

Leo-the-Diegel is one of America's most colorful golfers. His style is unorthodox and his mannerisms—which include vocal exhortations directed at a wavering putt—attract attention wherever he plays. He has proven his ability to flash brilliant golf at times and has figured in most of the important tournaments of recent years.

Leo is professional at Tia Juana, Mexico, and is 34 years old.

Loughran's Next Foe Is Griffiths

Tommy Meets Tuffy In Chicago Next Month. Griffiths Well Liked.

By Tommy Loughran, Light Heavyweight Champion of the World. (Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.) Philadelphia, April 15.—At the Chicago Coliseum next month I will defend my light heavyweight title again, this time against Tuffy Griffiths, who whipped Leo Lomski in the semi-final match of my show with Mickey Walker.

Griffiths has only one black mark; the knockout James J. Braddock scored against him in New York. There was plenty of excuse. Making his first appearance in New York, Tuffy was very anxious to make a hit. He rushed in wildly and Braddock hung one on his chin in the second round.

That taught Griffiths a lesson he will never forget. Since then he has whipped excellent fighters, including Charley Belanger, Canadian champion, and Lomski. It was his victory over the Aberdeen Assassin that gave him the match with me. This isn't slighting Braddock in the least. Lomski beat Braddock after Jim knocked out Tuffy, and as Griffiths whipped the conqueror of the man who stopped him, it made the rivalry even-steven. However, James J. need not worry. He'll get his chance.

GRIFFITHS LIKED. It is obvious why Griffiths was selected. I like Paddy Harmon. He has given me a break, and I want to give him one. Tuffy is an idol in Chicago, and a great drawing card. Giving him a chance at the championship ought to pack the coliseum. After Griffiths, Braddock can have his chance, and that will be an outdoor shot in New York, where James J. is doing very well as a crowd pleaser.

According to reports, Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey may be hatched in Berlin. They are even talking of million-dollar purses. It sounds exciting, but not exactly reasonable. Germany is crazy over Schmeling, but it doesn't seem likely they can draw that much money in a country that hasn't recovered from the war. Of course, that may be only a "build up" to stage the fight in the United States, but I think Billy McCarney is anxious to see the bout put on in Germany. It would be something new.

RICKARD DREAM. If Tex Rickard were alive he would be interested in staging a bout in Europe. It was one of his dreams—a big fight in London, Paris or Berlin. Unfortunately, Schmeling came along to see the bout put on in Germany. It would be something new.

I have had several bids from the other side to fight there, and maybe I'll take one of them up. I've always wanted to see Europe, and I wouldn't do any harm to mix business with pleasure. They wouldn't have to come to me very hard to take on Schmeling in Berlin. New York, Philadelphia or Chicago. The place wouldn't matter, and I would like to add a little more evidence in the old argument about boxers and sluggers.

traps with the necessity of breaking 48 out of 50 to win. He broke 47, a very good score but not good enough. Gold pieces will be given as prizes in this event.

CRACKERS GO TO 'NOOGA

through an exhibition season with more than ordinary success. They have an unsettled outfield and an infield with an untested second base combination. If it were not for their impressive exhibition victories, including those over the Cardinals and Buffalo, one might be tempted to regard the Lookouts as lightly as of yore.

They hardly look strong enough to be serious contenders but most anything can happen in baseball. Not only can but does.

The Crackers, while they start with a revamped lineup that has not played together in a single game this spring, go into the opening game series here with a lot of determination. Wilbur Good has the team hustling. The final workout Monday at Spiller field was a fast one and the temper of the club on the trip just concluded was excellent.

"Silver Bill" Stickney, the veteran road secretary, believes in the ball club. Sentiment seems to be swinging around to where the Atlanta club is regarded as one of the three best in the circuit. They may not get off on an early winning streak, most of the players being veterans, but they confidently expect to take the opener with Roaring Joe Kiefer out there in the rifle pit shooting at the Lookouts.

"I think some of the men have been underestimated," said Silver Bill Stickney. "They will fool some of you experts yet."

STRONG FINISHERS. The Crackers, picked as slow starters because of the fact that the team

Johnny Farrell Slated To Play At Number One

JOHNNY FARRELL

Johnny Farrell, national open champion, seems slated for the No. 1 position on the American Ryder cup team again this year.

Farrell led the victorious assault on the emblem of professional supremacy at Worcester in 1927, defeating Aubrey Boomer in a one-sided match. He appears slated for another encounter with Boomer, or with the big Archie Compston.

Johnny threatened for many years before fortune smiled last summer at Olympia Field, where he won the national title in a playoff with Bobby Jones. Middle distance irons and putting are his chief forte.

He is 24 years old and, with his brother, Jimmy, performs the professional chores at Quaker Ridge Country Club.

SMITHY-B. H. S. TILT MOVED UP

By Welch Jordan.

As the Crackers are opening their season in Atlanta Thursday, the Tech High-B. H. S. game has been moved up a day and will be played on Wednesday of this week instead of Thursday as scheduled, according to announcement by Coach Gabe Tolbert of the Smithies, Monday afternoon. This arrangement gives the Tech High team two games in succession, meeting Decatur today. But with the large string of pitchers that Tolbert has on hand he will have little difficulty solving the problem of not overworking his mountaineers.

The Boys' High-G. M. A. game, originally scheduled for Tuesday has been called off because of the government inspection that is to be played at the Cadet institution the latter part of this week, giving Coach Shorty Doyal's men ample time to prepare for the game on Wednesday.

The feature of the program this afternoon is the Fulton High-U. S. B. contest at Piedmont. The game will be an interesting one and although the Tech High team are good, they will probably be plenty of slugging on both sides as each team packs power. King and Anderson will be the batteries for the Fulton team while Tucker and Theodosian will start for the Bluebirds.

Other games on the prep card today are the Tech High-Decatur and East Point-Marist affairs. The former will see the Smithies second stringers pitted against Coach Culver's Decatur lads.

contains several veterans, is nevertheless one of the potentially strong finishers. If the young pitchers come through for Good the Crackers may win more than their share in the first three weeks when they are doped to be off to a slow start.

Dick Honelly will be in the bull pen when Kiefer starts Tuesday, but the Cracker pitcher, who has drawn the opening day pitching honor, expects to go right through as he did against the Robins last week when he defeated them, 4 to 2.

Climax Blithen is the probable pitcher for the second game of the series on Wednesday. The Crackers return home Thursday for the opening game in Atlanta, the Lookouts being their opponents on that day.

The batting order of the Crackers for the opening day game Tuesday is as follows: Archdeacon, cf; Sheehan, 2b; Rosenfield, lf; Poole, 1b; Wade, lf; Marriotti, 3b; Jones, ss; Lopez or Yelle, c; Kiefer, p.

The Crackers will make the Annex hotel their headquarters while in Chattanooga.

Before leaving Atlanta, R. J. Spiller dispatched Cliff Knox, catcher, to Spartanburg; Catcher Augustine, a recruit, to Lyndale, and Pitcher Chilton, to Selma.

Miracle Team Star Still Aids Pastime

George Whitted, Now at Durham, Develops Many Rookies for Big Time Teams.

By Norman E. Brown. Durham, N. C., April 15.—While Johnny Evers, Hank Gowdy and Rabbit Maranville, once members of the famous Boston Braves team of 1914, are laboring with President Fuchs, of that club, to restore the team to its old heritage, at least one other member of that old miracle club is still active in the game. He is doing his bit to promote baseball by developing young ball players for a career in the big time.

His name is George Whitted. George has managed the local team of the Piedmont league for the last two years, and is shaping up another team for Durham. Eight members of the team he directed last season have moved into faster company—a step toward the top. The rest rests with them—and the men under whom they play.

WHERE THEY WENT. Of these eight, four drew the attention of the Baltimore club of the International league. The four are Montie Weaver and Lee Reed, pitchers, and Hal Johnston and Jack Lingley, outfielders. Two of his boys moved up to the Mobile club of the Southern Association. They are Outfielder Fred Taub and Infielder Buck Taylor, a brother of the better known Zacks.

Two other players will show their stuff to South Atlantic league fans, as members of the Columbia team. They are Duke Phillips, a third baseman, and Kershaw Jones, a right-handed pitcher.

"The most interesting angle of the club I had under me last year," says Whitted, "was the fact that all but two of the players were college boys, who had won their early baseball club on campus teams, rather than independent or sandlot teams. One of them, Montie Weaver, is an instructor in mathematics at the University of Virginia."

IN BIG TOP. Whitted played seven years in the big show. All seven were spent in the National league, but during that time he was a member of four different clubs.

He joined the Braves the very month they stirred their meteoric climb from the basement of the league to the flag in 1914. That was July. The following fall he found himself traded to the Philadelphia club with Dugger for Sherwood Magee. The trade didn't cut him out of any world's series dough, however. The Phillies proceeded to win the flag that year under the late Pat Moran.

MOVING FREQUENTLY. Whitted played in Quakertown until the middle of the 1919 season, when he was sent to the Pirates by Gaby Cravath for Casey Stengel. In the spring of 1922 he found himself moving again. When waivers were asked on him, Brooklyn claimed him. Then after he had played in one game for Manager Robinson he was sent to Toledo.

He played with the "Mudhens" two years, then joined the outlaw Anthracite league as a member of the Mt. Carmel P. A. club. In 1926 he tried to drop out of baseball entirely, but the very next season found him accepting the management of the Durham club. For two years he coached Washington and Duke universities diamond squads in addition to his home town team.

This year, however, he has given up the college job.

Pladner Favored In Thursday Bout. Emile (Spider) Pladner, of France, European flyweight champion and claimant to the world's title, is a 2-1-2 to 1 favorite over Frankie Genaro, former world's titleholder, for their 15-round return bout at the Vendome Thursday night. In a previous bout Pladner knocked Genaro out in the first round, the latter protesting that he had been fouled. Both fighters were pronounced in perfect condition today. Billy McCarney, Genaro's manager, is scheduled to arrive tomorrow on the Leviathan to supervise Genaro's final workout.

ELSIE SIGEL

A GOLDEN HAired Girl Murdered IN A CHINAMAN'S FLAT

ON JUNE 19th, 1909, Sun Leung, an aged Chinese restaurant proprietor, called at the Forty-seventh Street Police Station, New York City and asked to have an officer investigate the room of his nephew, Leon Ling.

The reason he gave was that his nephew's room over the restaurant was locked, that he had not seen the young Chinaman for a number of days and that he feared foul play.

And he was right. There had been foul play indeed, as was quickly developed when Officer John Reardon forced the door of the room long unoccupied by any living person.

In the center stood a trunk tightly bound from which emanated the "odor of death."

But it did not contain the corpse of Leon Ling.

When the cording was ripped off and the lid thrown back, the delicate, but congested features and large blue eyes of a beautiful, golden haired girl were disclosed—her body trussed and bound with twine and wrapped in a blood-stained sheet.

Thus did Chinatown's most fiendish murder come to light. Thus did a man-hunt begin that reached to the ends of the earth.

At the time, for obvious reasons, the complete story could not be told. But now, years later, there is no longer any cause for silence. The man-hunt is over. The facts can be made public.

The inside story of the brutal murder of Elsie Sigel appears in True Detective Mysteries for May under the title—"Who Killed Elsie Sigel." Written by a skilled writer from the personal account of Inspector Van Wagner who handled the case, it will grip and hold you as you have seldom been held by any story. Do not miss it.

"In the interests of Justice," he began, "I want to say -"

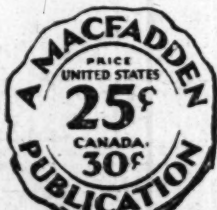

Two thousand volts of electric current cut him short. What he wanted to say died on his lips with the passing of whatever soul he may have owned.

Had "Whitely" Lewis been able to speak more than those last nine words, the mystery of the famous Rosenthal-Becker Case probably would have been cleared up. Mystery still lingers about the case but Stuart N. Lake, formerly of the New York Herald, writes in his own inimitable manner the inside facts of the famous Becker Case. Was Becker innocent? Many well posted criminologists still believe he was—that Becker, an innocent man, was railroaded to the electric chair. New facts are presented by Mr. Lake, inside facts. You will have opinions of your own after reading Mr. Lake's facts in the May True Detective Mysteries.

The Tragic Death of Beautiful Barbara

In a desolate spot in Stone Canyon, near Los Angeles, the body of pretty Barbara Mauger is found. Near it lies a baby skull. Buzzards had beaten the detectives to the spot. "Boys, we have got to get the human buzzard who did this," said Lieut. Condriff. This is a true mystery story that will hold you from beginning to end—in May issue True Detective Mysteries.

Bottled Madness

One of the most complete and absorbing true stories about dope that was ever published. This intensely interesting story by Frank Donohue, a man who knows the dope subject from beginning to end, tells why dope is the basis of most of the terrible crimes committed in this country. Sensational as a narrative, thoroughly informative about the dope problem and profusely illustrated. Follow the trail of dope in May True Detective Mysteries.

IMPORTANT!

True Detective Mysteries prints only authentic reports of actual crimes—narrating them in all their dramatic, thrilling aspects—but always faithfully clinging to facts. True Detective Mysteries is the only "detective" magazine which deals exclusively with true criminal mysteries.

ATLANTA HORSE SHOW IS SET FOR MAY 25

Program for One-Day Event Is Made at Meeting.

By Ben Cochran.

In order that Atlanta horse lovers who wish to see the Kentucky Derby and also the first show of the newly formed Atlanta Horse Show Association might not be disappointed, the association at a meeting Monday at the Capital City Club, changed the tentative date of May 18 to the settled one of Saturday, May 25.

The complete program for the one-day show, which will be held on the polo field at Piedmont park, was made up. There will be 16 classes held between 1 o'clock in the afternoon and dusk, winding up with the championship class to select the best horse in the show.

This first show will be confined to local horses but it is highly probable that next fall will see another show held by the association with foreign horses being shipped in and Atlanta will take its rightful place among southern horse shows.

Numerous cups have been offered by various organizations and firms of the city and in addition to these there will be ribbons in each class. The Capital City Club has offered a cup to be awarded the winner in the championship.

Interesting Classes.

There will be two classes in jumping, usually the most popular ones at a show, outside of the championship class. The jumpers be sent over four barriers in each class, the barriers not to be more than three feet six inches in height. The first class to be held will be a case of touch and out, which means that if any part of the horse touches the barrier, he will be forced out. In both classes performance of the horse only is to count.

Another class that should attract attention is that open only to members of the Saddle and Saddle Club, of Garden Hills. Members of the club will ride in pairs and while they are the only ones eligible for this class, they will be eligible for other classes.

Two committees were appointed at the meeting as follows: Prizes, Scott Hudson and R. P. Harvey; ring, Captain T. G. Gouley, of the Horse Guards; Lieutenant F. Del Comfort, of Fort McPherson and L. L. Wallis, general manager of public parks. Mayor Ragsdale sent a message to the association that he would give all possible help in staging the show.

Those in attendance at the meeting Monday were J. K. Otley, president; Scott Hudson, vice president; Trammell Scott, secretary; Brigadier General Lott, Robert Woodruff, R. E. Harvey, Walter Chandler, P. C. McDuffie and James L. Dickey.

The complete program follows:

Class 1.—Children's horsemanship. To be ridden by children 12 years of age and under. Pony not over 12 hands (12.5, mount 25). Cup and ribbon.

Class 2.—Children's horsemanship. To be ridden by children 12-16. Horsemanship 25, mount 25. Cup and ribbon.

AMERICA'S TENNIS HOPES

New Net Star To Aid Helen On Invasion

By Russell J. Newland.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

San Francisco, April 15.—(AP)—Crucial of the modern era, two charming girls this week will fight forth in an effort to conquer the tennis world.

Helen Wills, queen of the courts, this year will have as her aide Edith Cross, who stroked her way from obscurity to third national ranking in one season.

The two misses, chosen to represent the United States in play in Holland, France, Germany and England, leave today for Europe.

They will strive for the women's championship of France, the grass court title at Beckingham, England, and the all-English championship at Wimbledon.

NEW EXPERIENCE.

In the campaign abroad Miss Wills will be trading familiar ground to her partner it will be a new experience.

Last year the Berkeley girl brushed aside all opposition with a brand of play that brought her the all-English championship, which practically amounts to the world's title.

She completed the 1928 season with a record of 10 wins and 1 loss.

Miss Cross' rise to stardom was phenomenal. A year ago she virtually was unknown outside of San Francisco, but her sterling play in the big eastern tournaments won her instant notice.

PRACTICE TOGETHER.

Living across San Francisco bay from each other, the girls have been practicing together steadily since last fall. In the doubles they present a smooth working combination that observers believe will be difficult to overcome. Both have strengthened their singles game by playing against the men stars in this section.

When Helen left for Europe last year she was a diamond on the tennis circuit. Her left hand, but she said it didn't mean a thing. This year, however, the ring admittedly has a significance and she leaves behind one who is particularly interested in the progress of her invasion. He is Fredrick S. Moody, Jr., of San Francisco, to whom Miss Wills' engagement was announced a few months ago.

A. A. Teams Face Barrier Today

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—The American association, a smart class AA league that produces probably the tightest pennant races in professional baseball, opens its 28th campaign tomorrow.

With at least six teams, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and Toledo, regarded as championship threats the race is another "natural."

Indianapolis, which was forced to the last day's play to clinch the 1928 pennant, tangles with the Milwaukee Brewers at Indianapolis in probably the outstanding game of tomorrow's schedule. The other skirmishes are Kansas City at Louisville, Minneapolis at Columbus and St. Paul at Toledo.

Two new managers make their debut in the Hickey circuit tomorrow. They are "Bubbles" Hargrave, pilot of the St. Paul's entry and a former Cincinnati Reds backstop, and Allan Sothorn, erstwhile coach of the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Braves.

Louisville had a poor season last year, but looks to Sothorn to lead it out of baseball's wilderness.

Mrs. J. Kuttner Celebrates Birthday.

Rome, Ga., April 15.—Mrs. J. Kuttner celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday Sunday at a luncheon given by her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Sulzbacher. The table was covered with an Italian cut-work cloth and for its central decoration a birthday cake, decorated in lavender flowers and monogrammed with L. M. K., and the date 1841-1929. Orchid tapers burned in crystal holders and place cards were large mints across which were written, in orchid letters, the names of the guests. Silver compotes, placed at intervals, held lavender and green rose petals which was a delicious mint confect. Cakes served with ice were embossed with violets.

Mrs. Kuttner wore a black satin gown with real lace collar and cuffs and carried a quaint colonial nosegay of swainsone, parma violets and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Hymen Fried, New York, came to Rome to be with her mother on her birthday. The other guests were Mrs. Hart Smith and Miss Joan Twomey, Augusta; Mr. and Mrs. Kuttner, Sam Kuttner, Mrs. Sulzbacher, and grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the beloved honor guest, who is one of the pioneer women in Georgia.

Training Dogs To Lead Blind Explained By New York Junior Leaguer While Here

Rarely has more interest been aroused in Atlanta Junior League circles than yesterday, when it was learned that Miss Adelaide Warren Clifford, of New York Junior League, would arrive to spend last night in Atlanta en route to Savannah for a brief visit. Aside from the very natural interest felt in Miss Clifford because of her charm and magnetism, unusual excitement constantly surrounds her due to the new and very charitable work in which she is engaged.

This attractive New York leaguer has pledged her time henceforth to the training of German shepherd dogs to lead blind persons about in safety. In this work she has become associated with "The Seeing Eye," a school that trains dogs as guides for the blind and has become the assistant head trainer. The school was organized with Mrs. Harrison Eustis as president and Morris Frank as managing director.

Great Service. Mrs. Eustis is a cousin of Miss Clifford and the head of a school that has done great service among the blinded war veterans of European countries at Fortunate Fields, near Vevey, Switzerland, in which school Miss Clifford has received extensive training in preparation to teach these dogs. This is both a hobby and profession with this young lady inasmuch as dogs have always been her most cherished pets and helping the blind, her every day's work for the past several years as she has been engaged in doing charitable work in New York in connection with the Junior League of that city. During her hours of work Miss Clifford makes every charming but business-like appearance in her sports skirt, leather jacket, basque cap, Sam Browne belt and hiking shoes, topped by heavy woolen socks. She blindfolds herself and is led about by the dogs on a leash very much as a blind person would be so that she may sense the reaction in a measure of the blind.

New Field. This is a new field in charitable work with great prospects of development. With such young and enthusiastic blood engaged in the furthering of this work we feel sure that many interesting tales will reach us in future concerning Miss Clifford and her chosen profession.

CASUALTY COMPANY LOSES IN SUIT AGAINST STATE

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—The supreme court today refused to pass on the rights of the Casualty Company to share with general creditors in the settlement of the affairs of the People's National bank of Salisbury, N. C., which failed. The casualty company gave a bond for $50,000 to secure the deposits made in the bank by Benjamin R. Lacy, treasurer of North Carolina. At the time the bank became insolvent, the treasurer had on deposit $89,579. The casualty company claimed the amount of its bond, and the receiver for the bank paid him, according to the casualty company, enough to satisfy the balance of the bond. The casualty company contended it was entitled to recover from the receiver the amount it had paid on its bond. The circuit court of appeal held that the casualty company was entitled to receive all further dividends payable to the state treasurer, but that it could not otherwise share in the assets of the bank until the general creditors had been paid.

Miss Elliott and Mr. McDermott Wed at Lovely Home Ceremony

Characterized by impressive charm and dignity was the wedding of Miss Margaret Elliott, only daughter of Mrs. Hattie Blanton Elliott, to Dewey McDermott, of Charlotte, N. C., which was solemnized last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. A. J. Moncrief, pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur, officiated, using the ring ceremony, in the presence of the families and a few intimate friends of the bridal couple.

Floral Decorations. The home was decorated for the occasion with spring flowers, palms, and ferns. In the living room an improvised altar was formed of ferns and palms, interspersed with Easter lilies. On each side of the altar were two large candelabra, holding burning white tapers.

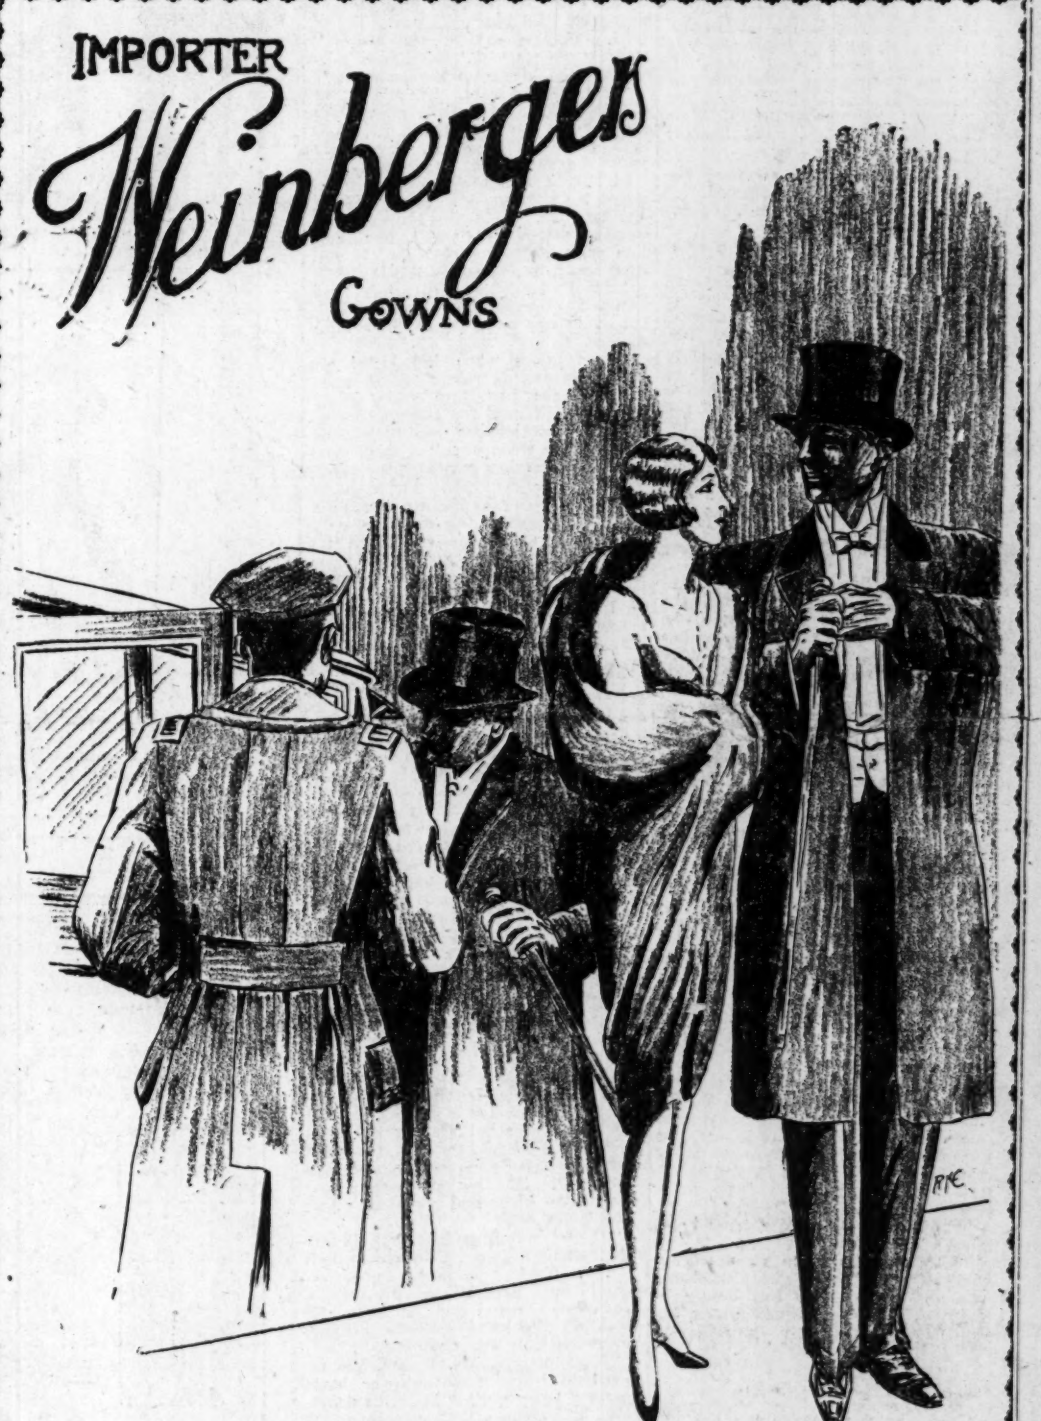

Preceding the ceremony an appropriate program of nuptial music was rendered. Mrs. V. G. Bryant sang "All for You" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frances Singletary LeSeuer. "Triumphant March" from "Aida," rendered by Mrs. LeSeuer, announced the entrance of the wedding party. The bride entered at the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

Miss Edith Blanton, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Her costume was of rose chiffon fashioned with long waistline and full skirt, effecting an uneven hemline. Her bouquet was of pink rose buds.

Lovely Bride. The bride entered with her mother, Mrs. Hattie Blanton Elliott, by whom she was given in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Horace R. Elliott.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. Mrs. Neil H. Cheek presided at the punch bowl. The bride's book was kept by Mrs. J. F. Stansell. The bridal couple left for a motor trip through the Carolinas. They will be at home at 1916 Lenox avenue, Charlotte, N. C., after April 25. The bride's going-away costume was a woadish georgette ensemble of rose beige, with accessories to match.

THE MEDBURY FORT MURDER

By GEORGE LIMNELLIUS

SYNOPSIS

Major Hugh Preece of the British Army Medical Corps has just been transferred from Bath to Fort Medbury, which is not far from London. He is about to leave his office one day to take his wife and children for a ride when Lieutenant Lepean, a friend of his, calls on him. The lieutenant is suffering from a mild disorder and the major prescribes for him. After the young officer leaves Major Preece remembers that he has seen him before under embarrassing circumstances. The visit puts the major in a penitential mood. He recalls his first love affair with Prunella Lepean, an actress on the London stage, then his brief sojourn in West Africa and his unhappiness at parting from Prunella. On his return to London Preece again meets Prunella. He asks her to marry him and she refuses. Shortly afterwards she marries Trompaz, a Frenchman. Preece marries Clara Chisholm, sister of one of his West African associates. A few years later Prunella and Hugh meet at Swindon where they spend the night together. Preece remembers seeing Lieutenant Lepean in the hotel corridor as he leaves Prunella's room in the morning. A new day after Lieutenant Lepean's professional call on Major Preece, the younger officer invites the older one into his room for a nightcap and tells him he is aware of his affair with Lepean. Preece has an impulse to kill him, but refrains. He threatens to expose the lieutenant. As Preece leaves Lepean's room, Lieutenant Harris calls to him and asks him to come into his room. He tells Preece that he has lost heavily at cards to Lepean and the latter is pressing him for the debt. Preece goes to his own room and reads a letter from Prunella which says she has a letter from Trompaz asking to see her and she tells Preece that he must get rid of Lepean. The next morning Lieutenant Lepean is found dead in bed. Captain Wagon, in charge of the fort, notifies the police. The local police sergeant calls in Scotland Yard and Lieutenant Harris is put in charge of the investigation.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII. CONFIRMING EVIDENCE.

At Swindon, Paton hailed a taxi and ordered the driver to take him to the principal hotels in rotation. At the Royal, he found what he wanted. In the manager's office the visitors' book for 1924 was produced. On the 28th of September, Hugh Preece had signed the book. The detective turned back a few pages and his eyes gleamed as he saw the name of Charles Lepean. So that, quite clearly, explained how Lepean had, in the first place, acquired his information. The only perplexing point was that he could not find Lady Roman's registration. Paton leaned back and regarded the manager with a smile of satisfaction. "Do you insure that all your visitors sign the book?" he inquired. "We try to, but of course, it's not like it was in the war." "Quite. A person might stay a night and not sign at all." "Might happen," the manager agreed. "I suppose it's another of these divorce cases," he grumbled, "giving the hotel a bad name. But what am I to do? I can't ask people for their marriage lines." "In this affair the parties did not pretend to be married; but the circumstances of their staying at the same hotel is significant. However, it's not a divorce question primarily. The Yard has nothing to do with divorce. Would the chambermaid and the head waiter be the same as you have at present?" "Yes, they've both been here a long while." "May I see them?" The head waiter remembered the lady. He had not known who she was. Thought he would recognize her again. She had dined with a gentleman who was staying in the hotel. They had gone out after dinner to the local music-hall. That was all he knew. The chambermaid added one piece of evidence. In the morning the lady had had breakfast in bed. At about 10 o'clock she herself had brought up the tray. The door was half open and a gentleman was in the room. She had found out later that it was Major Preece. He was sitting on the edge of the bed and had risen when she came in, and with a word to the lady had left the room. She had not heard exactly what he said, but his general air had been very familiar-like as if they were man and wife.

"You were surprised?" "Well, I was. But as the lady didn't say nothing, I thought I'd trap her was her brother." "You mean, had she attempted any explanation of the rather unusual incident, you would have suspected something was amiss? As it was, you judged she was indifferent to what construction you put on it, and therefore that the visit was entirely innocent?" "I did sir," the chambermaid replied. Paton was forced to an unwilling admiration of Lady Roman's adroitness and nerve. She had been perfectly right. Any attempt at an explanation would have immediately roused the maid's suspicions. "You did not know, I suppose no one knew, the lady's name?" "Oh, no, sir." "You would recognize her again?" "I think so, sir." Paton lunched at the hotel and caught an afternoon train back to London. He was well pleased with the results of his visit. Reaching the Yard about 5 o'clock, he made at once for the chief's room, determined to lay the facts before him and ask for a warrant to arrest Preece.

To his annoyance, McMaster was out. He debated to himself the expediency of arresting Preece forthwith, but decided to defer definite action until he could consult the chief. Before leaving the Yard, he rang up the Bitterne police station and instructed Sergeant Nuthall to keep Major Preece under close observation, without arousing his suspicions.

"How does he think I can do that," the sergeant muttered, indignantly, "suppose I'll have to go and see to it myself."

Albert Mason with his ancient cutaway of decent days and a mellowed straw hat tilted over his eyes, looked—which indeed he was—a typical churchwarden. At the first glance he appeared a weedy little man. Closer inspection revealed that, although short, he was of stocky build and had an amazingly broad, chest and long muscular arms. He was a butler by profession, but had retired from the active practice of his art for some years.

Mr. Albert Mason walked from his store in the Islington meat market to the slaughtering sheds in order to have a last look round before betaking himself to the Golden Fleece for his morning drink. He passed along the alley behind the long row of slaughtering sheds and was pushing open one of the doors when a voice hailed him. "Morning, Mr. Mason," the speaker was one of the city inspectors of meat. "Let me introduce my friend, Mr. McMaster."

"Pleased to meet you," Mr. Mason held out a huge red hand. McMaster took it and met the gaze of a pair of singularly cold blue eyes. "I was just saying, Mr. Mason," McMaster remarked, "that I have never seen the killing of kosher meat."

"Ah! Kosher meat. There's a lot of silly talk about it from people who don't know nothing about it. You ain't from the R. S. P. C. A. are you?" he demanded, suspiciously. McMaster reassured him. "Ah! Mind yer, I've nothing against 'em, their inspectors is all right—surely. If you understand, you can't have it both ways. If you want meat, you've got to kill it first."

PAWNBROKER IS SUED

Carpenter Claims He Was Assaulted by Clerk.

Alleging that a pawnbroker's clerk assaulted him with a blackjack as he started to leave his pawnshop with a suit recovered under a police order as having been stolen, J. T. Martin, carpenter, Monday filed suit in Fulton superior court for $10,000 damages. Martin named Simon Friedman, pawnbroker, of 263 Peters street, and Louis Rosenberg, pawnbroker's clerk, as defendants. Martin charges that he obtained a stolen suit and that he obtained a police order for its recovery. As he was leaving the store Rosenberg assaulted him and injured him with a blackjack and Friedman did not interfere, Martin claims. J. B. McCallum, attorney, filed the petition as counsel for Martin.

Villain of Sid Smith Strip Reported Seen in Atlanta

A nationally known and hated criminal is at large in or near Atlanta, or at least so says 12-year-old Donald O'Brien, who, in a letter to The Constitution, reports having seen Henry J. Austin, villain of Sid Smith's comic strip, "The Gumps," driving along an Atlanta street recently.

The malefactor who nearly wrecked Mary Gold's health and happiness and who had Tom Carr falsely imprisoned, was said to have been driving along Pryor street late last Thursday afternoon in a big green sedan. He was dressed in a light gray suit, had on a straw hat, and, according to the youthful observer, his cruel face wore a worried and desperate expression.

A nation-wide search is now in progress for this snake-in-the-grass who fled from justice, the very moment when his fiendish plans were culminating in his marriage to Mary. The Atlanta boy-leuth is believed to be the first one able to furnish a clue on his whereabouts. He was alone in the car, the boy said, thus adding to the mystery of how he escaped his jail cell, if unaided by an accomplice. Local police have been given the "tip" and are on the lookout for him. Sidney Smith also will be advised.

W. PEACHTREE PAVING OBSTACLES REMOVED

Obstacles in the way of widening and repaving of West Peachtree by Fulton county were removed Monday when city council voted $6,500 for adjustment of utility connections in the street and another $10,000 to Hugh Luman for renovation of an apartment house at the southeast corner of West Peachtree and North avenue, which must be moved back if the street is to be made a 90-foot boulevard in accordance with plans.

Fulton county had agreed to do the work, according to Claude E. Buchanan, alderman of the eighth ward and champion of the paper, if the city would make the contributions which council voted Monday.

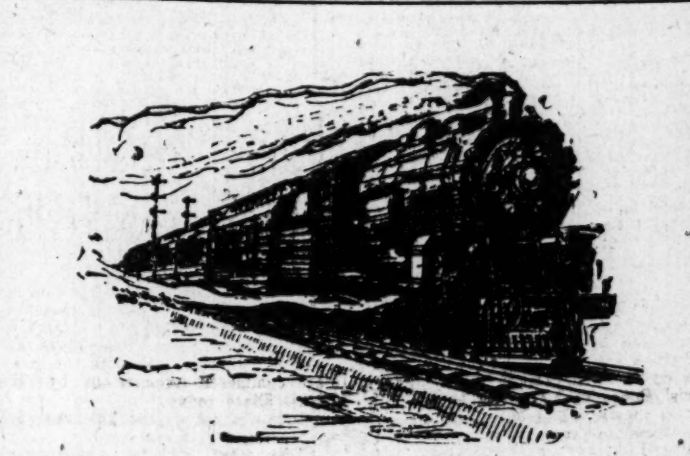

Mr. Buchanan staged a hard fight for the paper and was backed by his colleagues and members of the sixth ward delegation in council.

Work of widening now can be begun just as soon as Fulton county is ready after Mayor L. N. Ragsdale approves the papers passed by council.

THEATER REVIEWS

Rollicking Farce Comedy Wins Audience at Atlanta

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Small tornadoes of laughter swept over the Atlanta theater night when the Leslie Fulemiller comedy, "Mary's Other Husband," appeared.

Constructed for laughing purposes only, the farce certainly achieved its end. It is, of course, as far-fetched as most good farces are, but it is cleverly woven together and assuredly evokes the wholesome laughter of the crowd.

"Mary's Other Husband" is based on a unique plot. It follows the old theme of "Charley's Aunt," where somebody must be pressed into service to fool an old uncle who is expected to arrive almost any moment. The real husband, however, is the butler. A friend of a friend of the family suddenly finds himself in the role of the husband while a yeoman, a comic, a maid, a policeman, an obnoxious neighbor join with the old uncle and the uncle's niece in as merry a mix-up as the cleverest farce could imagine. It was written by Larry E. Johnson and assuredly is an ideal vehicle for the able Fulemiller company. It came as just the proper relief to last week's "Cocolette."

Miss Marian Grant, new leading woman, stepped right out of a powerful role in "Cocolette" to a light little bit of foolery in "Mary's Other Husband" and she made the transition gracefully. Two entirely different roles played in successive weeks show just how versatile this charming little actress can be and she certainly made many new friends Monday night. She was given a round of applause at the end of the show.

OLD FARCE BETTER THAN EVER, CRITIC AT HOWARD FINDS

Some plays, like many wines, grow better as they grow older, and, like house slippers, grow more pleasant with constant use. "Nothing But the Truth," which Richard Dix is starring at the Howard this week, is such an one.

Since the memory of this writer, at least, runs back to the contrary, this clever farce has been bringing laughter by the carload from countless audiences. It has been produced on stages from Maine to Bain, Col. and there has been at least one screen version of it before the current one. But it is still going strong. It has been on the boards and on the celluloid at least four times and we joined with the rest in greeting it uproariously at the Howard. About the only criticism that has been made is that it is the story of a young man endeavoring to tell the truth, the whole and nothing but, for the period of 24 hours. Richard Dix is splendid as the harassed young man while his support is particularly that of Ned Sparks as one of the conspirators, is equally good. Those who haven't seen it are in for a treat, and, as we found, so are those who have.

The stage show is styled Venetian Variations and the Howard boys, aided and abetted by the Howard staff, knock off some hot tunes in a scenic gondola. Helen Smith, petite tap dancer, does an entirely different role in "Nothing But the Truth" and she is a degree of success still surprising to us.

Loew's Grand. Victor McLaglen and Claire Windsor have the star parts in "Captain Lash," the featured screen offering at Loew's Grand for the first half of this week. Fully synchronized with musical score and sound effects, the picture tells of a "tough guy" who falls an easy victim to the wiles of a clever woman crook. There are reels of current news events and synchronized comedies to round out the bill.

Cameo. William Boyd's new and delightful picture "Power" is showing today at the Cameo. Filmed on the tremendous Paeonima dam in California, it has as many thrills as "Skyraider" and an even more generous measure of comedy. Jacqueline Logan and Alan Hale contribute some excellent acting to make this one of the most enjoyable pictures of its kind.

Alamo No. 2. Women who get a real thrill out of the bargain rushes at department stores will have a chance to see themselves as the shop girls seen when "Becky," Cosmopolitan's lavish production of the Raynor Selig story, comes to the Alamo No. 2 theater today. Several hundred men, women, confirmed bargain fiends, appear in the department store sequences at the opening of the picture.

Empire. "Abe's Irish Rose," the most spectacular stage play ever produced on the American stage, will be seen in its most impressive talking picture presentation at the Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and Crew Circle, for the last time today. Capacity crowds Monday night will see the performances of Buddy Rogers and Nancy Carroll, and all the voices of all the other performers.

Ponce de Leon. The film version of the most successful play ever written is being screened in this city. Anne Nichols' "Abe's Irish Rose," great and poignant story that it is, came to Swint and Davis Ponce de Leon theater yesterday and showed all evidence of scoring a tremendous success. Fans mount a capacity crowd Monday night, building it into a mighty comedy drama of love and tolerance.

Asks Intervention. The fourth petition asks leave to intervene in opposition to the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway Company's proposed acquisition of the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

In arguing the advantage of the proposed railroad, the petitioners declare that there exists important and well established routes involving the use of the lines of the Nickel Plate and the Wheeling and Lake Erie, and that a very large extent these routes are in competition with the single system hauls of the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio.

The petition declares that the Nickel Plate and Wheeling are complementary and supplementary lines and not substantially competitive, the Nickel Plate extending generally east and west and the Wheeling north and south.

The total mileage of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, including the Lorain & West Virginia, is 337 miles. It operates approximately 144 miles between Cleveland and Zanesville, Ohio, and approximately 210 between Toledo and Cincinnati, Ohio. All of these miles have track rights in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and New York.

The Nickel Plate, which is controlled by the Van Swinburne family, operates approximately 1,690 miles. Of these 428 miles are in Ohio, the remainder in Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and New York.

This is one of the first changes in the Van Swinburne family since here since William D. Mitchell became attorney-general, and it involves an office regarded as significant by the administration in view of the new policy toward public lands.

Henry B. Walthall and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. play the above mentioned father and son, respectively, while the young lad is played by none other than Marceline Day. Other names escape us, but, anyway, young Marceline Day is the father of our heroine, and—why go on? It all turns out all right in the end.

Cholly White and his Jolly Jazzers render a few useful numbers on the stage in a pleasing manner. Fox News and a Vitaphone attraction complete the program.

Scout Leaders of Nation Gather Here To Attend Special Training Conference

A group of nationally prominent leaders in scouting activities who this week are serving as the faculty of a training conference for national directors of water-front safety, L. L. McDonald, national camp director, and Commodore W. E. Longfellow, assistant national director of the American Red Cross. Standing, left to right, are: J. D. Freeman, national director of professional leadership training; F. D. Chadwick, southeastern scouting director, and G. H. Berg, national director of volunteer leaders. All of these men are from the national headquarters at New York. The insert shows W. A. Dobson, local scout executive.

About 60 professional and volunteer Boy Scout leaders are at the Berg Adams camp, near Yonkers, this week attending a special training conference being conducted under leadership of a "faculty" composed of nationally known scout leaders from the New York headquarters.

The conference is to last through Saturday and during this time the leaders will be given intensive training in the various phases of scouting activities, summer camp work in particular. Many of the students at the conference are scout executives from southeastern cities while the remainder are volunteers who this summer will be called upon to direct, or assist in the direction, of scout camps all over the southeast.

NICKEL PLATE SEEKS CONTROL OF WHEELING

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—Control of the Wheeling & Lake Erie and its subsidiary, the Lorain & West Virginia, is asked by the Nickel Plate road in a petition filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Nickel Plate today.

Control is asked through ownership of the majority of stock. Three other petitions recompanied the proposal, which is made with a view to ultimate acquisition. All the petitions bear on the proposed control. One petition asks the commission to vacate its order of March 11, requiring the divestment of the road's present holdings of Wheeling stock. Another petition seeks authority to issue 67,553 shares of Nickel Plate common stock and the same amount of preferred, the proceeds to be applied toward the purchase of 198,062 Wheeling shares which together with the full 437,000 and the balance favorable to this country was $40,180,000. DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

New York, April 15.—Oil shares acted as if they were ready to sell higher if given any encouragement but the market as a whole marked time waiting to see if the supreme court would hand down a decision in the O'Fallon railroad situation test case.

Uncertainty as to what President Hoover would say in his message to congress was also a stock market factor together with conflicting views on the credit and stock market outlook. There was wide discussion here today of the conflicting statements by Durant and the New York World on the attitude of business men regarding federal reserve policy.

Durant says only 12 replies he received from 463 unnamed business men in 20 cities upheld the federal reserve in its efforts to check excessive stock speculation.

The New York World publishes signed replies from prominent business men in 45 states, including such men as President Erskine, of Studebaker; President Simpson, of Marshall Field; President McCormick, of International Harvester; President Carlton, of Western Union; President Buell, of Great Northern. The published World replies show overwhelming approval of federal reserve policy but in some cases there is criticism of the way the federal reserve has gone about getting desired results.

Shows Market Mind. It is not difficult to find people here in Wall Street who believe that Durant's outburst against the federal reserve are characteristic signs of a well-balanced bull stock market. It was pointed out today in conservative banking circles here that Durant's published statements attacking the federal reserve are almost in exact repetition of what Durant said nine years ago before and after he was forced to throw over control of General Motors carried in a high money market on margin in over 40 Wall Street brokerage offices.

One of the best bankers here expressed the belief today that "the bull stock market would have another spasm in good stock but that the market as a whole in 1929 would witness more of the market's experience in June and December of 1928."

For the third month of this year ended with March we have a foreign trade balance in our favor of $255,000,000 against $133,000,000 for the same months of last year.

In the international gold movement for the first quarter imports exceeded exports by $22,522,000 whereas for the first three months of 1928 we shipped out $119,740,000 more than we got in. More talk was heard here of cooperation between foreign central banks to check the flow of gold here.

Foreign cables available at the beginning of this week reviewing our stock market and credit situation and outlook up to the close of last week, said that the market and our unprecedented bull stock market is not far off.

Foreign cables available at the beginning of this week reviewing our stock market and credit situation and outlook up to the close of last week, said that the market and our unprecedented bull stock market is not far off.

Have Another Spasm. One of the best bankers here expressed the belief today that "the bull stock market would have another spasm in good stock but that the market as a whole in 1929 would witness more of the market's experience in June and December of 1928."

For the third month of this year ended with March we have a foreign trade balance in our favor of $255,000,000 against $133,000,000 for the same months of last year.

In the international gold movement for the first quarter imports exceeded exports by $22,522,000 whereas for the first three months of 1928 we shipped out $119,740,000 more than we got in. More talk was heard here of cooperation between foreign central banks to check the flow of gold here.

One suggestion that Durant makes to the federal reserve is that it stop the offering of many securities which it is unwilling to have the banks it controls accept as collateral.

It was pointed out in banking circles here that the federal reserve has no such power but that if it had it would probably rule against some of the securities sold by Durant's women on school reserves, clergymen, etc., to raise money to come back after the 1929 "blow up."

Durant Motors sold to the public at three times its present market value has never paid a penny dividends.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 19.60, a decline of 5 points over the week-end. Sales, 6,000; receipts, 18,587; middling 19.50; good middling 19.50; receipts 2,079; middling 19.50; good middling 19.50.

New York, April 15.—(P)—A slight early advance on reports of rains in the eastern belt were followed by declines in cotton today under liquidation, together with some local selling which appeared to be inspired by prospects for clearing weather. July contracts declined to 20.02 to 19.52 and closed at 19.52, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 11 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points on buying apparently attributable to an unfavorable view of the rains reported in the eastern parts of the central belt. May sold up to 20.02 and December to 20.05, but this bulge met increased offerings and prices soon turned easier. Relatively easy Liverpool led the market, with the lowest levels in the late trading when May sold at 20.40 and December at 19.57.

Much of the day's business consisted of switching from May to later deliveries, and it looked as if some long as well as short accounts were being transferred. The May-July difference narrowed somewhat at one time, but at the close was 60 points or the same as at the close of Saturday.

Part of the cotton near month was supposed to represent price fixing for the trade. Some traders were inclined to doubt whether the rains or showery reports in the eastern belt were heavy enough to do much harm and their influence was evidently offset by the outlook for clearing conditions.

Liverpool cables reported that covering and Bombay buying had been supplied by liquidation in the market and said that reports from the cotton market at Manchester were discouraging with the demand poor from both India and Europe. Exports totaled 9,602, making 7,007,428 so far this season. Port receipts 7,842, U. S. port receipts 1,550,948.

LULL IN TRADING AT NEW ORLEANS.
New Orleans, April 15.—(P)—A lull came over the cotton market today with trading slack and price fluctuations narrow.

Weather conditions proved the stimulating influences with prospects for more favorable weather clipping the early spurt.

Cheerful advices from Washington over farm relief legislation sustained prices more or less during the day, accounting for a 3-point advance in the early trading for July, placing that position 10.54, 14 points below slumped 11 points to 19.53 which it held until the close. The general market closed steady at net declines of 8 to 12 points.

Despite a poor Liverpool, first trades showed no change to 4 points up and later closing. Exports totaled 9,602, making 7,007,428 so far this season. Port receipts 7,842, U. S. port receipts 1,550,948.

At the latest May traded at 19.75

CARSON'S LIABILITIES PLACED AT $296,387

Indicted Real Estate Operator Claims Total Assets of $361,932.82

Schedules in the voluntary bankruptcy petition of Sturn W. Carson, filed in United States district court Monday reveal secured claims of $154,815, unsecured claims of $157,572.48 and other liabilities totaling $296,387.23, and claimed assets amounting to $361,932.82, more than $274,000 of which is real estate.

The voluntary petition in this case was filed some days ago but some delay was experienced in arranging the schedules due to the condition of the books, it was stated.

Carson has been indicted by the Fulton grand jury on charges of embezzlement, forgery and larceny after trust. His son, W. Clifton Carson, was jointly indicted on larceny after trust charges. Carson is at liberty under $25,000 bond, while his son is under $2,500 bond.

List of Liabilities.

In addition to the secured and unsecured claims of creditors, the liabilities include the following items: taxes, $1,500; other debts preferred by law, $893.75; notes and bills, $50; accommodation paper, $300. Assets in addition to real estate were listed as cash on hand, $72,040; bills and promissory notes, $2,040; other personal property, $1,000; stocks and bonds, $3,450; insurance policies, $9,500; property in reversion, remainder trust, $1,000.

Secured creditors numbered 57, including people from nine states and the District of Columbia, while 20 unsecured creditors were listed, the amounts ranging from a few cents up to more than $20,000.

Preceding this list of unsecured creditors, the following was written on the schedule:

Interested Persons.

"There are listed here all persons who might be interested in the bankrupt's estate, some of the amounts are necessarily approximate. Funds were left with the bankrupt for investment as he might deem proper, and investments were commingled. For this reason, those who deposited funds for investment were listed. Whether or not, and with what, if any, priority any of these listed have are questions of law.

"Heretofore, the bankrupt has furnished the referee with a list of all persons who might possibly be interested in the bankrupt's estate. On the list followed only those who are shown by the books of the bankrupt as being so interested.

"An answer was filed Monday to the involuntary petition naming W. C. Carson and S. W. Carson both as a partnership and as individuals, in which S. W. Carson denied the existence of a partnership and prayed that the petition be dismissed.

FORMER SENATOR REED HITS SPEECH REPORT

St. Louis, April 14.—(P)—Former Senator James A. Reed here gave a testimonial dinner in his honor to testify, declared today he had been "treated outrageously by the press" in reporting his address at Jefferson Day dinner in Kansas City Saturday night.

"I have been a long time since I have had any cause to complain about the press," Reed said, "but I was quoted Saturday night as saying that the members of Congress get jackasses. I said nothing like that. I said no law makes a thing right or wrong. Later in the speech I said cause several hundred jackasses get in favor of a thing that does not make it right.

"I was quoted as saying something to the effect that Jones and Volstead never had a thought in their lives. I didn't say that. I said as long as I had known them I had never seen them smile."

ASSOCIATED PRESS MAKES CORRECTION.

Kansas City, Mo., April 15.—(P)—In reporting two addresses of James A. Reed in Kansas Saturday, the Associated Press erroneously quoted the former Missouri senator as referring to all congressmen as "jackasses." The Associated Press is glad to make a correction.

Mr. Reed made an attack on the drastic provisions of the Jones prohibition law, and in the course of his address, which covered a wide range of other subjects, he said:

"A real law must be founded on the principle of justice. The fact that two or three hundred jackasses get together and pass a law does not make a thing right or wrong.

"The original Associated Press copy linked the reference to 'jackasses' with another statement made by Mr. Reed regarding congressmen. What he actually said was:

"Four hundred and thirty-five congressmen and 36 senators in Washington would not have sense enough to rear one baby, yet congress continually is enacting legislation prescribing the conduct of our lives. The reporters of the Associated Press, who covered the Reed speech, insisted today that the speaker had been accurately quoted as follows:

"I have cross-examined Wayne Wheeler and associated with Mr. Jones. Wayne Wheeler and Jones never had a thought in their lives."

The original Associated Press dispatch used the name of Volstead instead of Wheeler.

HOOVER TO SPEAK AT A. P. LUNCHEON; EXHIBIT MEET

Washington, April 15.—(P)—Aside from the address which he will deliver next Monday at the Associated Press annual luncheon in New York, President Hoover will make one other speech this month. This will be on April 25 at the exhibit of the public buildings plan for the national capital to be held at the United States Chamber of Commerce building, near the White House.

The president will speak for only ten minutes. The exhibit is under the direction of the treasury department and Secretary Mellon will also make a short address. Government officials and members of congress have been invited to attend.

OPERATORS OF TEX GUINNESS CLUB FINED $50 TO $250

New York, April 15.—(P)—Ten men pleaded guilty to maintaining a nuisance at the Saloon Royale, Broadway night club where Texas Guinan was hostess before it was raided by prohibition agents, today were fined from $50 to $250 by Federal Judge E. S. Tamm, who presided at the trial in which the hostess was acquitted.

COUNCIL ORDERS SPACE FOR PARKS IN SUBDIVISIONS

Subdivision developers in the future must set aside a certain amount of the property for parks and playgrounds, according to an ordinance passed Monday by city council. The measure will be up to Mayor L. N. Ragsdale today for his approval.

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, chairman of the parks committee of council, is author of the measure providing that subdivisions containing from 10 to 50 acres shall have from 1 to 10 acres set aside for parks; from 50 to 100 acres park strips must be from 10 to 20 acres, and from 100 to 200 acres recreation centers must be from 20 to 40 acres.

GERMANS REFER REPLY TO REPARATION CLAIM

Paris, April 15.—(P)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German spokesman, faced the press today to refer Germany's reply to the reparations claim of the allied powers. After a closed plenary session of the experts committee on reparations lasting an hour and ten minutes, during which Dr. Schacht had the floor as Germany's spokesman, the experts adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow. The only actual decision arrived at was not to publish the figures contained in the allied bill at present.

A wish of the creditor nation delegates to study the figures and accept them just as they arrived at the totals contained in the bill was given as the official reason for the adjournment. Since they were known to have studied the figures very thoroughly before arriving at them it was presumed the Germans wanted—and obtained—more time to study them.

Will Seek Reduction.

This time, it was believed, Dr. Schacht and his conferees might use in an attempt by private conversations with the creditor nation delegates to reduce the amount of the total figures still further. There was nothing today to indicate that these totals might be, but when they were handed out on Friday, the total claims value of between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 and an amount of value around $24,000,000,000 was understood.

Some taking note of the decision not to publish the allied figures, in the figures presented to them Saturday as a tangible basis for work, the experts might begin anew an attempt to conciliate the German and allied positions.

It was even assumed that Owen D. Young, who had a hand in scaling down the allied figures, might be reached, might today undertake to conciliate in some measure the German and allied viewpoints. Some believed this conciliation would be longer than a single day and that tomorrow's plenary session a further attempt would be taken, permitting the allied remainder of the figures to be taken up in the private discussions of figures.

There was much speculation among those outside today's session as to what effect Washington dispatches reporting his address at Jefferson Day dinner in Kansas City Saturday night, might have on the subject of reparations had to do with today's developments.

The dispatches raised the presumption here that President Hoover was being kept informed of the work of the experts and that he was being kept informed of the work of the experts. It was believed that he had received the full report of the work of the experts. From this presumption it was believed that he would be in a position to confer with two of his aides. From this presumption it was believed that he would be in a position to confer with two of his aides.

NEW TARIFF BILL MAY BE DELAYED, IS LAST REPORT

Washington, April 15.—(P)—While the republican members of the house ways and means committee hope to report the tariff bill by Saturday, there is a possibility it may be delayed beyond that date.

Chairman Hawley, who will lead the majority forces in the floor debate on the measure, said today that April 20 originally had been set for completion of all reports.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

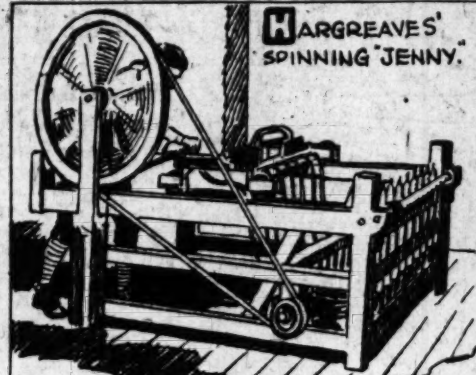

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

7-34-28

IN THE LATTER HALF OF THE 18TH CENTURY CAME A SERIES OF INVENTIONS WHICH COMPLETELY CHANGED THE METHODS OF PRODUCTION THAT HAD BEEN IN USE SINCE MEDIAEVAL TIMES.

MACHINES BEGAN TO BE INVENTED WHICH NOT ONLY DID THE WORK OF HUMAN HANDS BUT SURPASSED IT IN SPEED.

POWER, OUTPUT AND, IN MANY INSTANCES, IN QUALITY OF WORKMANSHIP. THIS PERIOD OF CHANGE IS CALLED THE "INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION." IT BEGAN IN ENGLAND, AND THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY THERE WAS THE FIRST TO BE AFFECTED.

FOR MANY YEARS YARN FOR WEAVING CLOTH HAD BEEN SPUN, ONE THREAD AT A TIME, ON THE SPINNING WHEEL. IN 1764 JAMES HARGREAVES, AN ENGLISH WEAVER, INVENTED A SPINNING MACHINE, CALLED THE "JENNY" THAT COULD SPIN EIGHT THREADS AT ONCE, THUS ENABLING ONE MAN TO DO WHAT FORMERLY HAD BEEN THE WORK OF EIGHT.

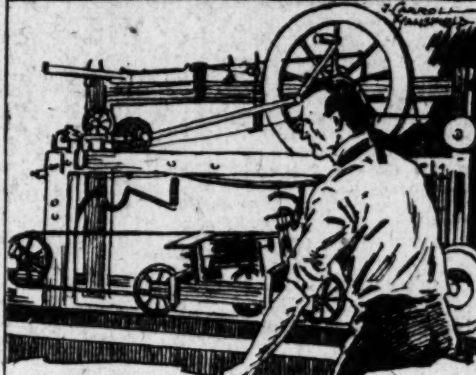

The Story of American Industry.

The "Industrial Revolution."

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE INVENTORS, CHIEF AMONG THEM RICHARD ARKWRIGHT, IMPROVED UPON THE "JENNY" UNTIL IN 1769 A MACHINE WAS PRODUCED THAT COULD SPIN THIRTY THREADS AT ONE TIME AND AT A GREATER RATE OF SPEED. ARKWRIGHT LATER INVENTED THE CARDING MACHINE, A DRAWING FRAME, AND AN IMPROVED SPINNER, AND IN 1771 ESTABLISHED THE WORLD'S FIRST COTTON MILL AT NOTTINGHAM, ENGLAND.

AMUEL CROMPTON IN 1779 INVENTED THE "SPINNING MULE" THAT SPUN A FINE FIBER FOR THE MAKING OF MUSLIN CLOTH. BEFORE THESE MACHINES WERE INVENTED, IT TOOK MANY SPINNERS TO KEEP A FEW WEAVERS SUPPLIED WITH YARN. NOW THE WEAVERS COULD NOT KEEP UP WITH THE PRODUCTION OF YARN.

TOMORROW—THE FACTORY SYSTEM IN ENGLAND.
